REDS REPORT COUNTER DRIVE SCORING GAINS

Say Nazis Leave Piles of Dead Unburied on Fields as They Retreat.

Russians Declare They Smash Way Back Across Dnieper on Ukraine Front.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW — Violent onslaughts by the Red army that drove back the Germans so rapidly that they sometimes left "piles of unburied dead" on the battlefields were reported in war dispatches today to be in progress on the Leningrad, Kiev, lower Dnieper and central fronts

Although the official war communique said merely that fighting continued on the entire front, official reports from the front indicated that the Russian counter-attacks were gaining momentum on all of the vital sectors from Leningrad to the Black sea, while guerrilla units were slashing at German rear lines deep in the occupied zone.

The dispatches gave this picture:

LENINGRAD — Violent battles continued, with the peoples' guard taking a leading role in counter-attacks that held the Germans everywhere and pushed them back through several more villages. One popular guard regiment of factory workers using ordinary rifles was credited with stopping a German tank column until Russian artillery fire destroyed it.

The Red air force destroyed two German airports and 74 German planes of the Richthofen corps, the Red Star said. (The German radio reported that German long-range artillery had effectively shelled war factories and power plants in Leningrad and Helsinki said Finnish dispatches reported smoke from big fires hanging over the city.)

Theft Suspect Jailed, Hikers Help Police

Youths Call Mansfield Police After Long Ride In Stolen Auto.

Usually blamed for lawless acts, two hitch-hikers did Mansfield police a favor today in aiding in the arrest of a suspected auto thief with whom they had ridden for several hundred miles.

The hitch-hikers, two Brooklyn, N. Y., youths, Caesar Weingart 22, and Edward J. Camac, 17, called police by phone early this morning, reporting that they wanted to turn over a man they suspected as having stolen an auto in Cleveland.

Police went to First and Main streets where the youths had made the call and took into custody a 17-year-old Niagara Falls, N. Y., youth who was driving an auto reported stolen from Cleveland Tuesday.

Mansfield police are holding all of the youths until Cleveland authorities arrive to check their stories.

The hitch-hiking youths told police that the auto theft suspect had picked them up Tuesday in Norwalk and told them he was "just joy-riding" and would take them along if they would help pay for the gasoline. The trip took them to Chicago and back to Mansfield.

"The more we rode, the more suspicious we became," one of the youths told police. "We were almost certain the auto had been stolen."

When the trio neared Mansfield, the Brooklyn hitch-hikers said, the driver complained of feeling ill and pulled off onto a sideroad to take a nap.

While he was sleeping, according to their story, they took the keys of the car to make sure he would not drive away without them.

After a conference in which they decided police should be notified, the Brooklyn men stopped a passing auto and asked one of the men riding in the car to drive their own auto into Mansfield.

Camac and Weingart, along with the other motorist, brought the suspected thief into the city and turned him over to police.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said that he was satisfied that the hitch-hikers are telling the truth but that he was holding them for questioning by the Cleveland authorities. Police from that city are expected to arrive in Mansfield this afternoon.

Will These Solve East's Gas Shortage?

Within two weeks eastern motorists could have all the gasoline they want if 20,000 currently idle tank cars were put into use, J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, told the senate oil investigating committee. This photo (top) of idle tank cars of the Union Tank Car company, Philadelphia, demonstrates what Pelley was talking about when he said the railroads could deliver 200,000 barrels weekly. EXPECT FDR TO GET GIANT TAX BILL BY OCT. 1

Senators Pass Three and Half Billion Dollar Measure By 67-5 Vote.

FALLS SHORT OF PLAN

Increased Levies Would Not Meet 'Pay-as-You-Go' Setup of Morgenthau.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON —Congressional leaders said today that the new tax bill will be sent to the White House before Oct. 1, as it was committed to a joint senate-house conference to iron out disagreements between the two bodies.

The bill, estimated to raise $3,583,900,000 annually as it passed the senate late yesterday by a vote of 67 to 5, raises the American taxpayer's bill to a new high level

The senate passed the bill after but three days' consideration, with many members attacking the measure as inequitable but supporting it as a means of protecting the nation's finances.

Despite the huge total of the bill, it admittedly falls short of meeting the fiscal program of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau of a two-thirds pay-as-you-go basis and one-third borrowing to finance the defense program.

Congressional leaders are hopeful that a special committee set up in the bill to study reduction of non-defense expenditures, however, can accomplish economies which will improve the treasury's position.

The new bill raises individual and corporation income taxes, increases excess profits, estate and gift taxes and imposes a host of miscellaneous sales and excise levies to produce the huge total.

The major point of disagreement between house bills is in senate action in reducing the individual income tax exemption to $1,500 for a married man and to $750 for a single man The house has yet to approve this.

The senate voted for a surtax on corporation incomes of six per cent on those under $25,000 and seven per cent on those above. This raised the house increase by one per cent.

A special 10 per cent tax voted by the house on corporations profiting by the defense program, but not reaching the excess profits class, was knocked out by the senate.

The senate increased the capital stock rate adopted by the house to $1.25 a thousand, the senate increased the house tax on local telephone bills from five to 10

Claim Sub Shot Torpedoes In Self-Defense

Berlin Issues Statement Charging FDR Ordered Attack to Incite U. S. To War; Asserts Destroyer Violated Blockade Zone.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—A German communique asserted late today that the United States destroyer Greer opened an attack on a German U-boat at the order of President Roosevelt "to incite the American people into war against Germany."

The communique acknowledged that the German submarine fired two torpedoes.

It declared, however, that it first was attacked by the destroyer in water the Germans have declared to be within their blockade zone.

The communique said the U-boat commander was justified in his action because it was in self-defense and said he "was not in position to determine the nationality of the attacking destroyer."

The communique described the incident as a running battle, starting at 12:30 p. m. Thursday when a U-boat "was attacked by water bombs at 62.31 degrees north and 27.06 west and pursued continuously."

4 U. S. FLIERS LOST AT SEA

11 Other Americans Rescued After Torpedo Sinks Ship In Mid-Atlantic.

(By International News Service)

GLASGOW, Scotland — Four American aviators last their lives and seven others were rescued and brought to a Scottish port after the ship carrying them to Britain was torpedoed in mid-Atlantic, authorities revealed today.

All 11 Americans were described as fully trained pilots who were en route to Britain to join the R. A. F.

Some of them are commercial airmen while others received military training at R. A. F. centers in the United States and Canada.

The survivors were brought to Scotland aboard a warship of the Free Polish navy which picked them up in the middle of the Atlantic.

In addition to the Americans, 20 British survivors were rescued.

The total death toll, including the four Americans who were drowned, was placed at 37.

Officials said the ship on which they were making the ocean crossing sank quickly after being hit by the torpedo and that there was time to launch only one lifeboat.

Many of the passengers were left floating around the spot where the vessel sank, clinging to rafts and debris

Several passengers including one of the American aviators, Robert Puroshin of Sacramento, Cal., were rescued by a British seaman, William Landrum of Lancashire, who is a powerful swimmer.

After sinking the ship, the German submarine came to the surface, passengers related, and the youthful Nazi U-boat commander gave the survivors in the lifeboat bottles of rum and four tins of bully beef. He refused to give them water, however, saying that the water supplies aboard the U-boat were running short.

As the submarine was leaving the scene it accidentally damaged the lifeboat's stern and the German commander shouted an apology . . . and "Auf Wiedersehen."

The submarine then submerged and disappeared.

Twelve hours later the Polish warship picked up the survivors.

(In London the British admiralty informed the American embassy of the incident.)

The seven American survivors were identified as: Tom Griffin, Jackson, Miss.; Jack Gilliland, Pittsburg, Kansas, River S. Grove, Macon, Ga., Norman Echord, Kansas City; James Jordan, San Francisco; B. F. Mays, Wharton, Tex., and Robert Puroshin, Sacramento, Cal.

(This is in the North Atlantic, about 200 miles southwest of Reykjavik, Iceland, which the United States navy said was the Greer's destination.)

The engagement, it said, lasted "until toward midnight," the destroyer pursuing with water bombs unsuccessfully until then.

The communique charged:

1. That the United States navy's assertion that the U-boat was the aggressor "can only be to give at least the appearance of justification to an attack by an American destroyer on a German U-boat.

2. That it proved that President Roosevelt previously, contrary to his statements, had given "general orders to American destroyers not only to report positions of German ships and U-boats but, beyond that, to attack them:

3. That, finally, "Mr. Roosevelt in this way also is trying with all means at his disposal to provoke incidents in order to incite the American people into war against Germany."

The communique, issued by DNB, said:

"American and English news services issued an item according to which, on the morning of Sept. 4, in the course of an encounter between the American destroyer Greer and a German U-boat, the destroyer was attacked by the U-boat.

"The torpedoes, it was said, missed their mark. The destroyer then pursued the U-boat, counter-attacking with depth charges. Official German sources establish the following:

"On Sept. 4 a German U-boat at 12:30 p. m. was attacked within the German blockade area by water bombs at 62.31 degrees north and 27.06 west and pursued continuously.

"The German U-boat was not -

Kay Francis, Guest At Malabar, Goes To New York

Escaping the curiosity seekers who trespassed upon the privacy of her visit to Malabar Farm two years ago, Kay Francis, Hollywood screen star, was en route to New York today after a few quiet days as the guest of Author Louis Bromfield and his family at Malabar.

The star has just finished making "The Female of the Species," for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and is scheduled to appear on a radio hour in the near future. Date for the broadcast will not be learned by the actress until she reaches New York.

Kay Francis

Miss Francis is an old friend of the Bromfield family and has appeared in the film adaptation of a Bromfield story entitled "Twenty-Four Hours." Her visit here was confined to the family and was unmarked by any social functions.

Her trip east from Mansfield was made by motor.

WARNS AGAINST CHAIN LETTERS

Mansfield Postmaster Tells of New Scheme Using Defense Stamps as 'Bait.'

Postmaster Herman E. Homberger, warned Mansfielders today against joining chain letters, being circulated in some nearby cities, and asking the recipient to buy a 25-cent defense stamp and send it to "the name at the top of the list."

The postmaster said that although Mansfield has not yet had an influx of this new version of the chain-letter craze which swept the country several years ago, postal authorities here are on the lookout for such schemes.

He warned Mansfielders that such practices are in violation of federal law, and quoted a bulletin sent out from the postmaster general's office:

"The sending of such matter through the mails is a violation of the postal fraud and lottery statutes. Notices are served upon persons participating in such

DEMAND 'CZAR'

Solons Say One-Man Defense Control Imperative.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The chairman and ranking Republican of the senate defense investigating committee today united in a proposal that President Roosevelt name a "one man Czar" to direct the stupendous re-armament program.

Sen. Truman (D.) Missouri, chairman of the committee, and Sen. Brewster (R.) Maine, member, who have just returned from an investigating trip in the west, declared that one-man rule is imperative.

They joined with Bernard M. Baruch, New York financier and World war director of the war industries board, Sen. Byrd (D.) Virginia, and others in urging a new re-organization of the defense program.

Arlin, Fankhauser and Leedy Unopposed for School Board

The Mansfield and Richland county boards of education today were assured of at least one new member each in 1942 and a number of school board contests loomed in the county for the November election as 47 candidates for the board posts filed with the county board of elections.

More than 200 candidates for village, township, and board of education offices filed their nominating petitions with the county election board before the deadline last night.

Mansfield was left without a board of education contest when only three candidates filed for the three posts to be filled. The candidates are Harold W. Arlin, now president of the board; Alvin H. Fankhauser, candidate for re-election, and W. O. Leedy, 470 Woodward avenue. Leedy is seeking the office which will be left vacant by the retirement of Dr. John S. Hattery as a board member. After serving eight years on the board, Dr. Hattery decided not to run again.

The three candidates' petitions were filed by a committee of "interested parents." The 11 petitions had 497 signatures.

With Neil S. Robinson, Madison township, out of the county board of education contest, two new candidates filed for his post They are Emery Culler, Lucas, and R. B Garber, Bellville. C. G. Tugend, Worthington township, and Leland Clever, Franklin township, are candidates for re-election to the board. Three members will be elected in November.

RABIES WARNING

Health Commissioner Says Calf Was Afflicted.

A warning to guard against rabies was issued today by Dr. William B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, upon receipt of a report that a six-months-old calf had died of hydrophobia in the Mansfield area this week.

Wild said that the calf, owned by Gary Jacobs of Route 178, had probably been bitten by another animal carrying rabies. He warned all persons who may have had contact with the calf to consult physicians immediately for Pasteur treatment.

The health commissioner also asked all farmers in the vicinity of the Jacobs neighborhood to keep a close watch for the disease in animals on their farms.

Jacobs, the veterinary attending the calf, and a third man, have already received treatment.

VISITS MOTHER

President Attends Birthday Gathering At Hyde Park.

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—President Roosevelt returned home from an abbreviated week in the national capital today to visit his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, who will observe her 87th birthday Sept. 21.

White House aides said Mr. Roosevelt had scheduled no official callers for the day, but expected to keep in touch with developments in the international situation by telephone from Washington.

PREDICTS WAR

Norman Thomas Says Policy of U. S. Means Shooting.

LAKESIDE — (U P) — Socialist Leader Norman Thomas believes that the present U. S. policy will lead this country into total war, especially if the war continues another year.

Thomas expressed this viewpoint in an address last night to the 26th annual conference of the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

"While the shooting off the coast of Iceland of itself probably won't bring war," said Thomas, referring to the destroyer Greer incident, "it illustrates the incidents 'the president's course invites, the multiplication of which means war.'

Defeat of Nazis Predicted In Sensational Jap Article

(By United Press)

TOKYO — A sensational article predicting the defeat of Germany was published today by Japan News Week, which often reflects the views of high government quarters.

The publication said that the situation ushering in the third year of the European war was such that "although it does not indicate that the Nazis and their ill-founded plans have been defeated, it does mean that by the end of the third year, the finish of the horrible carnage should be within the grasp of the Allies."

However well Adolf Hitler may have thought he planned a march to world domination, "it is not quite apparent that even he is fallible," News Week said.

It said the second year of the war proved that Hitler erred in believing the German air force could blast Britain into submission.

"The end of the second year finds an expanded Royal Air Force attacking at will vital spots in Germany and occupied France," it said.

"The subsequent failure to drive British shipping from the Atlantic must have been more bitter yet . . . perhaps no less disheartening to the chancellor (Hitler) is the slow progress being made in an attempt to subjugate the mighty Red army of the Soviet Union. . . .

Meet New Teachers In Sunday N-J

They're very interesting people, the fifteen teachers who are new this year on the faculty of Mansfield's public schools. And there's no easier way of getting acquainted with them than to meet them in tomorrow's edition of The News-Journal.

There will be pictures and interviews introducing you to each of them and to their hobbies.

Another introduction in the Sunday edition will be the first in a series of brief features presenting new residents of the community to News-Journal readers.

When the occasion arises for you to put in a fire or police call you don't have much time to think about how the city's automatic alarm system works, so you'll probably find it interesting to take your leisure tomorrow in reading the fascinating story behind the alarm system. Pictures help explain it.

Bands come and go. But when a musical organization lasts more than 50 years, it has something. When two bands in the Mansfield area last over half a century they have a story worth reading. You'll find it with pictures in tomorrow's edition.

Take a trip along the defense front with Mansfield area trainees; read what happens to a mooching husband in the short story; get the latest in sports news, social events, women's features; read the timely editorials and columnar comment—all in the Sunday News-Journal, along with:

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — This piece is about Leon Henderson. The subject should be of general interest, because, as price administrator, in an effort by direct control to prevent some of the more horrible aspects of inflation, he has one of the heaviest responsibilities to protect every home in this nation that ever rested on American shoulders.

Johnson

As a principal member of SPAB, or the 1941 war industries board, he has a prime place in gearing up military production to a point of national security without ruining our basic business structure.

The piece is written before reading the promised disclosures of Chairman Dies of the house committee investigating "isms," which Mr. Dies has said will expose Mr. Henderson as "unfit" for his job because of his past and present associations and associates.

At first I thought I ought to wait to hear this blast, and then it occurred to me that I have had my own experiences with "Leon the Hen" extending over many years.

He served in my general staff organization of army purchase and storage in 1918. I brought him into NRA in an important position and served with him closely both there and in an important civilian assignment later.

He may be opinionated, unduly cocky and extremely New Dealish, but if there is anything the matter with his loyalty, patriotism and I will add, essential soundness, I ought to know it without waiting for Mr. Dies' blast and, furthermore, I ought to say what I think I know before that.

I hold no particular brief for Mr. Henderson—nc any particular brief against him. In fact I razzed him so much when he became pontifical on Senator O'Mahoney's monopoly committee that he called up one of my editors and threatened to beat me up or worse. He has a very low boiling point.

Just the same, for his particular new job of watching over prices, I don't know any man better fitted by study and experience with the whole parade of modern industry and economic trends.

He saw it all pass in review in the war, in NRA and again with Senator O'Mahoney. When that job was over, among many of these "industrial czar" jobs offers, with a whacking salary, that came to me and were declined, I wanted to suggest him for one.

His answer was: "No sir. In this uncharted sea of governmental statistical services, there must be some way to get a conspectus of the whole picture. I'm going to try to get it, even if I starve in the process. It is our greatest need." That is what he has worked at for at least eight years. If he isn't good he ought to be.

* * *

Finally, I can't agree with the angle of attacking, on a side-issue, a man who has just been appointed to a position of such great responsibility—at least until he has had a chance to do his stuff.

Mr Henderson has some faults, and, as I believe, some very wrong theories about price control. This column reserves the right to discuss them, but at this stage I must confess that I don't know many (if any) better choices for this job.

One Dead, Damage $25,000 In Ohio Storm

REPORTS SPY 'MASTER MIND' IN CONFESSION

U. S. Attorney Says Former Ohioan Admits Sending Data To Nazis.

(By United Press)

SPOKANE, Wash.—U. S. Attorney Lyle Keith says Kurt Frederick Ludwig, alleged "master mind" of a German espionage ring in this country, has "partially confessed."

He disclosed the confession yesterday, when Federal Judge Lewis B. Schwellenback signed an order to remove Ludwig to New York, where he was indicted and will be tried.

Six of Ludwig's alleged confederates have been arrested, and three, including blond Lucy Boehmler, 18, have pleaded guilty in New York to spying. Ludwig is a native of Fremont, O.

"Ludwig, while not admitting to the facts contained in the indictment, per se, nevertheless has admitted mailing information concerning the United States armed forces and relative information," Keith said. "He has not made a full confession, but it's drawing a fine line."

He said Ludwig confessed he had mailed information to Germany about Mitchell Field, New York, airplane factories and troop movements. The information was written in code on the backs of innocent looking letters and sent to "mail drops" in Spain and Portugal.

"In addition, Ludwig mailed information to the armament and size of certain vessels, their points of destination, the production of planes and the reason for delays in production," Keith said.

"He further admitted receiving from mysterious sources varying sums of money ranging as high as a couple of thousand dollars, although he has not worked since returning to the United States (from Germany) in May, 1940.

He said Ludwig frequented water fronts and bought drinks for sailors in attempts to pry information from them and admitted having informed Germany about the size of military contingents on the Atlantic coast and in the mid west with "amazing detail."

THEATER GROUP CLOSES SEASON

Repeat Performance of 'The Mikado' Presented Before Enthusiastic Audience.

The Children's theater completed its season last night with a repeat performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera, "The Mikado," staged before an enthusiastic audience at John Simpson Junior high school last night.

Colorfully costumed in Japanese robes the production was presented against a picturesque background of garden trellises, lighted lanterns and bamboo screens.

Directed by Harold McCuen, a cast from the Children's theater presented the action on stage while a singing group coached by Mrs. C. E. Anglin provided the solos and choral work backstage. Miss Marguerite Speas trained the dancers and Donald Scott-Morrison was the accompanist. Mrs. E. D. Gibson assisted as bookholder.

Herman Clingan again sang the role of "Pooh-Bah." Other singers in the production were mostly high school pupils.

The cast included John Bishop, Betty Gibson, Frankie Lane, Bob Gandert, George Ridenour, Bill Gandert, Richard DeSanze, Claudia Marks, Carol Thompson, Warren Alverson, Anna Parsons and Sigrid Meisse.

Singing roles were handled by Charles Palmer, Don McLaughlin, Richard Wright, Virginia Davis, Helen Anne Troll, Ruth McKee and Mary McCartney.

Others in the cast were Wanda Hess, Joan Porter, William Houston, Richard Perez, Elaine Mash, Jacqueline Pilot, Betty Whaley, Joan Gale, Marilyn Treisch, Betty Bauman, Mina Jean Stash, Jean Daugherty, Coila Litchenberger, Doris Alverson, Jay Herbert, Billy Russell, Jimmy Rush, Ned Fort, Robert Butterfield, Bobby Klein, Donald DeSanze, Tommy Weier, Sondra Kirkendall, Virginia McMichael, June Hafer, Betty Wier, Janey Bushnell, Martha Shiplet, Sally Rusk and Judy Maxwell.

VICTIM'S MOTHER BEGS FIRST LADY TO HALT PLANE DANGER

(By United Press)

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. — The mother of Georgene Kramer, one of three children killed by flaming gasoline from an army airplane that crashed in front of their home, pleaded today by letter with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to "do something" to stop army planes from flying low over congested areas.

"Maybe you, as a mother, would be interested in hearing of another mother's tragedy," Mrs. Kramer wrote.

"When the vision of those children; one rushing from the flames and the other two trapped and lying in the road; thrown from the sidewalk from the explosion "screaming in agony, 'Mama! Mama!' . . . My little one (a blond, three-year-old) was nowhere in sight; Jasper ran from the road a mass of flames; Pauline (Jasper and Pauline Cuccio were the other victims) was lying in the road. I was frantic for my own child but something made me grab Pauline and little Georgene was underneath her, stuck to the ground, her skin burned completely off. Pauline had the worst burns, as she was atop Georgene. They were hideous. I pushed Pauline across the sidewalk. The butcher grabbed her as I threw my child to my husband's arms.

"About one half hour after the children were rushed to the hospital mortally injured and hideously disfigured (they all died in a few hours) a second lieutenant came into our home," Mrs. Kramer wrote. "He thrust a paper into the badly burned hands of the doctor (Dr. I. Arthur Kramer, her husband) and said, 'Sign here for no property damage.' Our children were dying and the army was worried whether the house was injured —whether they would be held liable."

She said the army did not even send flowers to the children's funerals.

She asked Mrs. Roosevelt's aid in seeing that a "complete investigation" was made.

TOLD OF DEATH

Mansfield Friends Learn of Demise of W. H. Batterson.

Word of the death at his home in Washington, D. C., yesterday of William H. Batterson, 82, was received today by friends in Mansfield.

Mr. Batterson as a youth and young man resided in Mansfield with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Hickson, members of a pioneer family here. He was born in Mansfield, Dec. 26, 1858.

A tablet in memory of the Hickson family was erected in the Park Avenue Baptist church only a few months ago. The memorial was provided by Mr. Batterson.

On leaving Mansfield, Mr. Batterson took an executive position with the Pullman company, manufacturing and operating railroad passenger cars.

Mr. Batterson is survived by a daughter, Miss Florence Batterson of Washington.

Funeral services are to be held at 1 p. m. Sunday at the family home in Washington.

The body will be sent to Mansfield for burial services Monday at 11 a. m. at the Batterson mausoleum in Mansfield cemetery. Rev. Albert L. Linder, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will officiate at the rites here.

ONE HURT IN RUBBER BLAST

Explosion at Goodyear Plant Felt All Over Akron.

AKRON —(INS)— A blast which was felt over most of East Akron injured a workman, causing unestimated damage in a chemical plant of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company, was attributed to dust, officials said today.

They said the explosion was similar to others in the building and that there was no evidence of sabotage. O. H. Van Hook, the workman, was drying accelerators which speed rubber coagulation when the blast occurred. He was cut on the head and face.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

The Legends of Broadway.

THE torch bearers of history and mythology and verse seem to have had one thing in common: They were all women. When Eve snatched Adam away from Lilith, it was Lilith who did the pinning. W. Shakespeare recorded Venus' torching for Adonis. All the lads with pens used their fanciest syllables to report Josephine's flame for Napoleon after the Little Corporal put his love for her on ice. Tennyson lit pages of poetry with Elaine's torch for Lancelot, and Queen Elizabeth's yearning for Essex is still fodder for the dramatists. In fact, the only male legend who was in the torch department seems to have been Narcissus—and wouldn't you know, he carried the torch for himself!

Kilgallen

* * *

But on the Broadway beat all that has been reversed. The girls—Ethel Merman, Helen Morgan, Libby Holman—sing the torch songs, but the torch itself is strictly male property.

* * *

A torch to be carried properly, must be borne high, and above all, out in the open for all to see. A private torch is little better than no torch at all. A good torch is carried at night into public places—it makes a lovely light at night, and the fuel that keeps it burning is a mixture of table-talk and publicity.

So it is fitting that one of Broadway's finest torchies of the past decade has been carried by a publicity man—Monte Proser.

* * *

Monte's wooing and pursuing of petite and beautiful Julie Jenner of the Earl Carroll ensemble took years by the calendar and miles by the speedometer. All the lads on Broadway were part and parcel of the play-by-play. Monte carried the torch high and bright during the entire courtship.

The columnists were his John Aldens. They carried his protestations of love to Julie and soothed him with advice and words of hope.

So it was a great day for them, too, when the torch finally warmed little Julie's heart and she named the wedding date. Monte snuffed the torch, and they were married, and he went on being a press agent and Julie continued in the show shops.

* * *

Then came a day when Earl Carroll took the show on the road. With Julie in the mid-west, Monte dusted off the torch, relighted it, and took to card playing for solace. Better than drink, of course. With gambling, the hangover is in the wallet, not the head. But he chose to enter the Saturday night game of stud poker at the Edison, playing with such wage-earners as Benny Davis, Phil Spitalny, Paul Yawitz and Gene McHugh, who not only had more money than he but were not carrying a torch.

Well, Monte lost two thousand in one month, and paid off, quickly of course, because he is the kind of fellow who pays off. But it was paid from a joint bank account—his, but also Julie's.

* * *

Julie returned shortly after the debacle. There was a nip in the air, and she wanted a new fur coat. But when she went to the bank, the cupboard was bare.

Julie walked out. And when she slammed the door, she fanned the greatest torch that has been seen in these parts for many a moon.

Ackley of Sandusky, one-time member of the City band, will direct the concert as the band plays just as it did in the city parks 30 years ago. Arranging the program for Sunday are William Fisher, F. J. Hughes, Fred Zellner, Arthur S. Beck, and Fred Oswald.

POLICE HUNTING 2 HIT-SKIPPERS

One Runs Into Parked Car; Another Hits Hydrant; Four Injured.

Mansfield police are seeking two hit-skip drivers today. One of them crashed into a parked automobile on North Adams street early today while the other damaged a fire hydrant at East Fourth and Wayne streets late yesterday.

Fred Davis, North Adams street, reported to police that his auto had been damaged today at 3:30 a. m. when another auto crashed into its rear while it was parked on North Adams near Temple court.

Davis was awakened by the crash and looked out a window to see an auto speed away.

Police were also investigating the damage of a fire hydrant by an auto The car was abandoned at the scene of the crash by two men, whom police said were intoxicated.

Four accidents occurred, and four people were reported injured in highway crashes in the Mansfield area, last night according to highway patrol reports.

Buelah Shoemaker, Ashland R. D. 5, suffered facial cuts, and Wilbur Williams, also of Ashland, suffered a cut knee when cars driven by Williams and William Shoemaker, Ashland, were involved in an accident last night in Lincoln Heights on the "bloody six miles," just outside of Mansfield.

Herman Bowman, 19, New London, was treated last night at General hospital for a cut over one eye, suffered when his car and one driven by Claude E. Leak, of Cleveland, collided about three and a half miles north of Mansfield on U. S. route 42, according to state highway patrolmen.

On state route 13, about four miles north of Mansfield, an auto driven by Eugene Lightfoot, Shiloh R. D. 3 turned over when Lightfoot lost control of the vehicle last night. He suffered several broken ribs.

WIND UNROOFS BUILDINGS IN CENTRAL AREA

200 Telephones Put Out of Order, Trees Felled at Circleville.

(By International News Service)

Central Ohio today counted one death and damage estimated at $25,000 as the result of a terrific wind and rainstorm which swept the region late yesterday afternoon.

Hardest hit was the Fairfield county seat of Lancaster. There roofs were ripped from large buildings as a 60-mile gale swept through the center of town. Coroner J. D. Dupler reported that Charles Bales, 25, died from overexertion and heat exhaustion as he ran for shelter in an automobile. Bales had been cutting corn with two other men. He collapsed as he reached their car and died instantly.

At Circleville, officials reported that more than 200 telephones were put out of commission as the wind toppled utility poles and felled trees. At least 20 large trees fell on tombstones in Forest cemetery there, causing considerable damage.

As far east as Zanesville, power lines were down and limbs blown from trees. Almost an inch of rain accompanied the heavy wind there.

At Lancaster, residents cleaned up the debris last night in darkness. It was the worst storm there in years and power lines failed. Several hours passed before power was ever restored in the downtown district.

U. S. route 22 was closed on either side of Lancaster for 10 miles as highway patrolmen worked to clear the road of trees and other debris Most Fairfield county communities were without electric power the entire night.

Lancaster residents labeled the storm as a "freak." It lasted only about 15 minutes but in that short time ripped off at least six roofs, blew down 250 to 300 trees and filled streets with showers of splintered glass.

The roof of the Columbia building, in downtown Lancaster, was half way torn off and the Hickel company department, located in the building, reported that merchandise was thoroughly soaked by the downpour that followed the wind. The roof also was ripped from the Fashion shop, dealers in women's apparel. Firemen spent two hours pumping water from that building.

The roof of the Anchor Hocking Glass company building was sent spinning half a block down the street after the gale ripped it from the structure.

The wind weakened the roof of the Fairfield county children's home and officials for a while considered evacuating the 80 children housed there. Carpenters, however, braced the roof.

A man who told police he had locked his truck in a garage said the wind tore off the garage doors and blew the truck outside. Three army bombers were reported fighting the storm and one farmer said one barely missed the top of a barn. They landed safely, however.

'Air Powerhouse' Passes Tests, Set For Call to Arms

SEATTLE—(AP)—Bristling with guns and equipped for supercharged high altitude flying, a new Boeing four-motored bomber, mightiest of the B-17 line, was ready today for the call to arms.

Veteran Test Pilot Edmund Allen took the powerful B-17E model aloft at dusk last night two hours and 25 minutes after it rolled out of the factory.

Back from a 20-minute spin over Puget Sound, Allen stepped out beaming to exclaim:

"I'm delighted with the performance. She's a swell ship."

A three-man crew, the minimum for flying operations, took the aerial powerhouse aloft. Manned for battle, the bomber will carry a crew of seven or nine men.

The dress parade of the B-17E disclosed guns in the nose, in power-operated turrets on the top and in the belly, with additional weapons in each side and in the tail.

While company officials' lips were sealed on the plane's specifications, it was reported to carry heavy armament.

NAZIS CHARGE U. S. SHIP WAS FIRST TO FIRE

Say Sub Used Torpedoes In Self-Defense; Claim FDR Ordered Attack.

in a position to determine the nationality of the attacking destroyer. In justifiable defense, the U-boat thereupon discharged two torpedoes at 14.39 (2:39 p. m.) which missed their mark.

"The destroyer continued the pursuit with water bombs unsuccessfully until toward midnight. If American naval sources, namely the United States navy department, claim that the attack was started by the German U-boat the purpose of such an assertion can only be to give at least an appearance of justification to the attack by an American destroyer on a German U-boat in violation of neutrality.

"The attack itself is proof that Mr. Roosevelt, contrary to his claims, has already, at an earlier time, given general orders to American destroyers not only to report the positions of German ships and U-boats in violation of neutrality but, beyond that, to attack them.

"Mr. Roosevelt, in this way, is trying by all means at his disposal to provoke incidents in order to incite the American people into war against Germany."

Withhold Comment on Nazi Sub Charges

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The state and navy departments today declined to comment on German charges that an American destroyer was the first to attack the U-boat which launched two torpedoes at it.

A navy department spokesman said that no comment could be made in view of the fact that the German charges constituted a contradiction of those made by this government that the submarine fired first.

Secretary of State Hull and other department officials likewise refrained from comment, official quarters merely stating that the news was very interesting.

U. S. To Let Guns Protest Sub Attack

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The United States government, responsible quarters in Washington indicated today, intends, for the time being, to let the guns of the Atlantic fleet deliver any protest this country makes over the unsuccessful submarine attack on the American destroyer Greer in the North Atlantic.

State department sources said no diplomatic protest to Germany is contemplated at the present time. Any immediate protest that is made, these sources added, is likely to come from the guns of American warships that may happen to locate in North Atlantic waters the submarine suspected of attacking the Greer.

The submarine already is believed to have been damaged by the depth charges lobbed overboard by the American destroyer in its immedate counter-attack. Officers and crew of the Greer, which has arrived in Iceland, report that their instruments indicated they were directly above the attacking submersible when they dropped their depth bombs. The crew believe that if the submarine was not sunk, it probably was damaged.

If the American warships now searching the North Atlantic waters catch the damaged U-boat or any other Axis submarine lurking along the sea lane to Greenland or Iceland, the impression is given in official quarters here that a "protest" will be delivered in terms the Axis powers cannot misunderstand.

This view of the government's intentions in connection with the incident is in line with President Roosevelt's disclosure that American naval forces searching for the unidentified submarine will "eliminate" it if it is located.

State department quarters take the position that a diplomatic protest to Germany or Italy on the basis of existing information concerning the incident would serve little useful purpose.

While the American government takes it for granted the attacking submarine was an Axis vessel, and probably a German one, it is pointed out that Berlin already has denied any of their U-boats were responsible.

Diplomatic quarters in Washington believe that if, as the president intimated, the American navy has now been ordered to hunt down and "eliminate" Axis submarines on the American side of the North Atlantic, there is grave danger of further incidents.

RUMOR WHEELER SEEKS SUPPORT

Report Senator Wants Vote of Confidence In Montana.

HELENA, Mont. —(U.P.)— Rumors were widespread today that Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, (D., Mont.), plans to resign and run against Sen. James E. Murray, his junior, Democratic colleague, in November.

Wheeler, an isolationist leader, was reported anxious to get a vote of confidence in his home state and eliminate Murray, staunch administration supporter and Wheeler's bitter political enemy.

Virtually every state official admitted having heard the rumors, but none would be quoted. There was no confirmation.

TIFFIN—(AP)—Two Tiffin missionaries have been interned by Japanese officials in the Reformed Mission compound at Yoyang, Hunan, China, relatives reported today. They are the Rev. Karl H. Beck and the Rev. T. H. Hilgeman.

New Manager

Appointment of Frank Remy, former Mansfielder, as the new manager of the City Loan, succeeding Joseph C. Hartline, who has retired, was announced by the company today. Remy, son Charles F. Remy, 20 Lexington avenue, has been associated with City Loan since 1932. After two years as assistant manager here, he went to the Columbus office and later was manager at Cambridge. In 1937 he became district supervisor, working out of Lima, the company headquarters, which position he held until assuming the Mansfield post. Remy will live in the Hartline residence on Lexington road, while the latter is away on a year's tour of the south and southwest. Hartline opened the Mansfield office of City Loan in 1922.

VACATIONS OVER CHURCHES OPEN FALL PROGRAMS

Mansfield Congregations To Resume Regular Schedules as Pastors Return.

After vacations ranging from a week-end to several Sundays, most Mansfield churches return to regular shedules tomorrow, with the opening of their fall programs.

Services will begin tomorrow, after a month's vacation period, in the First Congregational church. Rev. Albert L. Linder, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, returns to his pulpit in the morning, as will Rev. H. S. Garnes, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church.

A number of Mansfield churches observed no vacation period at all, but operated on the usual schedule all summer.

Rev. Gilbert to Return to Pulpit

Completing an 8,600-mile trip throughout the western part of the United States, Rev. and Mrs. Herman L. Gilbert of the St. Paul Lutheran church have returned to the city and regular services will be resumed Sunday.

Rev. Gilbert will speak Sunday at 10 a. m. on the subject, "What God Has Built." The two advanced groups of the children of the church will convene at 10 a. m. as will the nursery program under the supervision of Mrs. C. L. Moore and Miss Jane Pasheilich. Sunday school will convene at 9 a. m.

Next week the church council will convene Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the church parlors. Mrs. Stanley Blackstone, 233 Bartley avenue, will be hostess to the Guild Tuesday evening. Miss Estella Arras will lead the devotions using as a topic, "Music."

Miss Helen Boyer will present the month's topic before the Mary Markley society in its meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Michael Hallabrin, jr., 100½ Gibson avenue.

Young People To Hold Hike at Park

The young people of the Church of the Brethren in Lincoln Heights will travel to Mohican state park Sunday afternoon for an outing. A hike will precede the picnic supper after which the election of officers for the new year will take place.

A sunset vesper service will be held which will be lead by the pastor, Rev. Roland L. Showalter. The group will leave for the parsonage at 3:30 p. m.

The pastor's cabinet will meet at the church Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. Friday at 8 p. m. the congregation will meet in its semi-annual business meeting. The election of church and church school officers for the coming year will take place at this meeting.

The women of the church will meet all day Wednesday at the church. A covered dish dinner will be served at noon.

ASHLAND COUNTY RESIDENT DIES

ASHLAND — Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Jane Arnold, 80, who died Friday at her home near here after a lingering illness, will be held Sunday. Short services will be held at the home at 2 p. m. and at 2:30 p. m. at Mohican church. Burial will be in Mohican cemetery.

Mrs. Arnold was born near Ashland, Sept. 22, 1860. She was a member of the Church of the Brethren.

Surviving are her husband, Thomas; five sons, C. W. Arnold, R. H. Arnold, Polk; Paul, West Salem; Earl, Detroit, and George of near Hayesville; 12 grandchildren, and one great grandchild.

'Man' To Be Topic of Lesson-Sermon

"MAN" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God" (1 John 3:1).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And when Abram was ninety years old and nine, the Lord appeared to Abram, and said unto him, I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect" (Genesis 17:1).

Church Begins Fall Activities

Inaugurating the fall program of work in the Sunday school and church, Rev. Charles F. Sheriff will preach on the subject, "Launch Out Into the Deep" at St. Matthew's Lutheran church tomorrow morning.

"Bow Down Thine Ear, Oh Lord," by Wickins, and the offertory, "Peace I Leave With You," by Robers are to be presented by the choir.

The Mary Voegele Missionary society will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Miller on Westview boulevards.

On Tuesday evening the Alpha class will meet at the home of Mrs. C. C. Vermilya on Penn avenue.

Organ Program To Be Presented

"The Lost Chord," by Sullivan, and "Toccata In G," by Dubois, will be featured on the organ by Mrs. Fred Lewis at First Congregational church at tomorrow morning's service.

Soloist will be Bentley Ford, who will sing "Invocation" by Hammond. Under the direction of LeMoine Derr, the choir will sing the anthem "Open Our Eyes," by MacFarlane.

Mary Proctor, new president of the Pilgrim Guild, will preside over a luncheon meeting at 1 p. m., Tuesday in the church parlors.

'Distorted Visions' To Be Sermon Topic

At the First Methodist church tomorrow, Rev. E. G. Corwin's sermon topic will be "Distorted Visions."

M. H. Patterson will sing a solo, "The Savior's Command" by Chapman, and the choir will present as its anthem, "Build Thee More Stately Mansions," by Lee Rogers.

On Tuesday a district conference will be held in the church from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. with Bishop H. Lester Smith as guest speaker.

Songs and Organ Numbers on Program

During the offertory at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow Mrs. C. O. Anglin will sing "Oh Pray For Peace" by Brahe. A quartet composed of Mrs. Robert Brook, Mrs. C. O. Anglin, Leo Hans, and Paul Watts, will sing the anthem, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," by Shelley.

Mabel Zehner, organist will present three organ numbers, "Meditation," by Bubeck, "Cantilene," by Pierne, and "Postlude in D," by Volckmar.

'Travelers' To Be Subject of Sermon

Taking as his sermon topic "Travelers Along the Jericho Road" Rev. Milton Johnson will describe the "many kinds of people along life's highway" tomorrow morning at the First Lutheran church.

Special music will include "Church Processional" by Friml, with Mrs. Clayton Ball at the organ, and "Rejoice, The Lord is King," by Spence, as the anthem. Donald Miller will sing the offertory solo, "Open The Gates," by Knapp.

Gives First of Sermon Series

Rev. C. A. Portz will speak on "The World For God" tomorrow morning at St. Mark's Lutheran church. This is the first of a series of special sermons to be delivered during September, which will be observed as parish education month.

Annual election of officers will take place during a meeting of the Guild Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Etzweiler, Sixth avenue.

The regular meeting of the church council will be held at 7:45 p. m. Thursday at the church.

Lima Pastor To Be Guest Speaker

Rev. C. L. Quinn of Lima, will be in Mansfield as guest speaker for the Unity service Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the First Church of God, 265 West Third street.

The harmony girls quartet, also of Lima will assist Rev. Quinn with special gospel songs. Delegates from Ashland, Loudonville, Bellville, Mt. Vernon and Upper Sandusky will attend the service.

Guest Speaker To Be at Homecoming

LEFT TURN ON INSIDE'S NOW RULE IN OHIO

New Traffic Code In Effect Today Also Calls For Signal In Passing.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of stories giving highlights of the state's new traffic code.)

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Elimination of the rotary or outside left turn at street intersection probably is one of the most important provisions of the uniform traffic code effective today.

The rotary has been used by several cities, particularly Cleveland.

Unless the state highway director or local authorities in their respective jurisdictions provide for a rotary turn, the inside turn must be followed by all vehicular traffic under the new code. If the rotary turn is adopted for any intersection the fact must be properly marked.

Vehicles making a right turn are required to keep as close as practicable to the right-hand curb.

Complete turns at or near the crest of a hill or on a curve is prohibited unless there is clear vision of 500 feet in each direction.

Signals for turning, stopping or decreasing speed must be given in time for drivers of other vehicles to be governed accordingly.

A vehicle passing another going in the same direction must signal the vehicle in front and pass on the left. Where four or more lanes of traffic are provided, passing may be done either to the left or the right providing it can be done with safety.

Passing is prohibited when approaching the crest of a grade or on a curve unless the driver of the passing car has a clear view of the road ahead. Passing also is prohibited where there is an obstructed view at a bridge, viaduct or tunnel, and when within a hundred feet of or traversing any intersection or railroad grade crossing.

Street cars may be passed while going in the same direction only on the right side, except where local authorities provide differently, upon a one-way street or when directed by a police officer.

Pedestrians leaving or entering a street car have the right-of-way. When a street car is stopped to receive or unload passengers, vehicles intending to pass to the right must stop at least five feet to the rear of the nearest running board or door and remain standing until all passengers have boarded the street car or, on leaving it, have reached a place of safety. If a safety zone is provided, the overtaking vehicle need not stop, but must travel with caution.

When a vehicle is driven in front of a street car it must vacate the tracks as soon as possible after the street car signals. Driving through safety zones at any time is strictly forbidden.

If the highway department deems a railroad grade crossing to be dangerous, it may erect stop signs and all drivers are required to halt before crossing. They may not cross when signals warn of the approach of a train.

Vehicles carrying passengers for hire and school buses are required to stop at all railroad grade crossings. Gears may not be shifted while crossing. A special penalty of a fine up to $50 for first offense and for a second offense up to $100 or 30 days jail sentence or both is provided for violators of these provisions.

Arlin, Fankhauser and Leedy Unopposed for School Board

school board races probably will be in Madison township where nine candidates filed for three offices.

Three of the candidates are in South Boulevards which, it was learned, may attempt to set up its own school district in Madison township. A complete board must have five members, however, and only three filed in the South Boulevards area. They are Mrs. Lula V. Hawkins, Mrs. Sue Auer, and Harlan Taylor.

Esley Cleckner, L. C. Hughes, and Fred A. Matthes, present members of the Madison board, filed for re-election. Also in the race are H. F. Roberts, J. B. Belt, and Harold F. Tingley.

The South Boulevards community split with the rest of the Madison district during the unsuccessful campaign for a bond issue for new buildings last spring.

Other candidates who filed for rural boards of education are:

Butler village district—R. B. Snyder, P. M. Crunkilton, James W. McFarland, Rupert B. Roberts, Stanley Williams, Kinsey R. Morgan, and Ivan Gower. Only three will be elected.

Bellville—Paul F. Yarger, Blake Garber, Carl McFerren, Frank W. O'Neal, Calvin A. Byers, and Walter B. Woodward. (Three to elect.)

Lucas village district—S. R. Baughman, H. M. McConnell, Robert McCready, and Dr. Paul Lee. (Three to elect.)

Lexington—Ralph DeWitt, Harry Clever, Vera Lawrence, Earl E. Wentz, Clark Robinson, Ralph Dickson, and Luck Pollock. (Three to elect.)

Shelby—S. Reymer Bricker, E. D. Dowds, L. N. Hoffman, and Leon A. Smith.

Cass township—Verl Malone, Dorothy Patterson, Grace Wolfersberger, Carl Sparks, Raymond Wolford, and Arthur Stober. (Three to elect.)

Plymouth—T. R. Ford, C. L. Hannum, and John F. Root; Mifflin township—Charles Stover, L. C. Peterson, and E. A. Liebhart.

Only four of the county's seven villages will have contests for village offices in November. They are Bellville, Lexington, Shiloh, and Plymouth.

In Bellville, Mayor Thomas R. Zeigler, Republican, will be opposed for re-election by E. O. Kochheiser, Democrat.

In Lexington, the candidates for mayor are J. Richard Gore, Democrat, and Robert R. Lawrence, Republican. Don Hamman, Democrat, and C. D. Nelson, Republican, will be in the race for mayor of Shiloh.

The Plymouth candidates are Joseph B. Derr and Harry A. Vandervort. Both filed as independents.

Russell E. Strong, an independent candidate, is seeking the mayor's office in Butler. He is unopposed. No one filed for mayor of Lucas.

A slate of candidates, headed by Raymond K. Clark for mayor, filed for South Boulevard offices. All of the candidates are unopposed. On the ticket will be Harry Scoles for clerk; C. W. Barnes, treasurer; A. C. Hunter, D. L. Divelbiss, Charles Swisher, Lester Lown, R. S. Bemiller, and W. S. Valmore for council; I. S. Perry, O. C. Ridenour, and W. B. Huber for members of the board of public affairs. No one filed for village marshall.

Army's Homey Place, In It's Way

By JOHN GROVER
(AP Feature Service Writer)

BREEZY HILL, La.—So you women think mere men don't know anything about home-making? You should see the army keeping house in the field.

You think you could do as well? Maybe so, lady, but your day would be full of little incidents like this:

"Junior, kill that rattlesnake for mama like a good boy. Then run over to the mudhole and see if they've got the kitchen loose yet."

Just a sample. I watched the 62nd brigade setting up camp after their 1,000-mile trek from Florida. Quite a suburban development goes up in these pine woods. "Uncle Sam, realtor. Build your home on Breezy Hill, soldier. No modern improvements. Southern exposure—also north, east, west and straight up.

And they call this Breezy Hill. That's conservative. When we arrive, the "breeze" would blow the paint off a wall, if there was a wall. This heavyweight zephyr blows up a pelting rain. Try wrestling up a tent in the wind and rain sometime. Like necking an octopus.

The road is a degenerate cowpath. It goes all to pieces. Trucks groan through it in compound low gear. Pretty soon they just groan—no go. The road has dissolved. Where it was a mess that looks like equal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1941

Drive carefully tomorrow—high speed wastes gas (if you can't think of a better reason).

The suspense is ended—it is now definitely known that the Cleveland Indians can't win the pennant this year.

If the war runs five years, as some are predicting, the Democratic national convention in 1944 will probably turn out to be a rather cut and dried affair as there are no precedents against a fourth term.

Move To Spread Defense Work

EFFORT to prevent distress in smaller industries, handicapped by restricted non-defense production, is seen in the creation of a division of contract distribution in OPM.

This was announced as "a determined move to help smaller business units obtain a fair share of defense orders, and to prevent, so far as possible, dislocation of industry and unemployment of workers where production has been curtailed by priorities and material shortages."

This action may be regarded as a further step in the planned series of conferences, one of which is scheduled for Mansfield on Tuesday, Sept. 16, at which representatives of the National Defense Contract Service will explain requirements of defense production by small manufacturers and give information in regard to letting sub-contracts for specific items or parts, of which samples or models will be displayed.

The point is also being raised as to whether the proposed drastic cut-down of some non-defense merchandise is really necessary. The suggestion is offered that satisfactory substitutes may be quickly developed to take the place of metals previously used, and that government concern should be in conserving metal rather than in total of unit production.

Representatives of 600 cities have been asked by the mayor of Evansville, Ind., to meet in Chicago, Sept. 12 to consider problems of communities likely to suffer from cutting production of consumer goods and not getting defense orders.

Great progress has already been made in turning farm products into plastics for industrial use and there is confident belief that science and inventive genius will go further in this promising field.

If the need for metals essential to the defense program can be met without as serious dislocation of non-defense production as has been contemplated, effort toward such an accomplishment would seem well worthwhile.

What Does 50-Mile Limit Mean?

CHANGE from a 45-mile speed limit to a 50-mile maximum in Ohio may mean much, or little, depending on interpretation and enforcement of the law.

Heretofore the 45-mile speed limit has not been regarded as even an intended maximum, and higher speed was not considered an offense in itself. It was only in case of accident, or associated with recklessness, that speed in excess of 45 miles an hour became prima facia evidence of guilt.

Whether the same attitude will be taken toward drivers who exceed the 50-mile limit remains to be seen, although provision that the state highway director may establish zones for lower or higher speed indicates an effort toward fitting speed to road conditions, as is already being practiced in some other states.

Observation and experience indicates that careful drivers adjust speed to highway, weather and traffic conditions in a sensible way, with their car always under control in the event of emergency.

What may at least be hoped, under Ohio's new traffic code, is that reckless driving on the highways, at speeds of from 60 to 95 miles an hour, will be done away with as quickly as possible—and that 60 miles an hour will be regarded as the maximum for safe driving in daylight even under the best conditions—with lower speed for night driving.

Talking About a Wooden Bridge

NEWEST development in the North Main street bridge situation, which has been jockeyed around for the past couple of years, is that county commissioners contemplate erecting a "temporary wooden bridge," pending possible furtherance of the conservancy district's flood control project—and also to avoid the cost of a modern permanent bridge.

According to the state highway department, such a bridge as is needed on North Main street would cost around $40,000, of which the county is asked to pay one half. If this is more than an adequate modern bridge should cost it shouldn't be difficult to find it out—but if, as seems more probable, this is a fair estimate, based on present costs of material and labor, it would appear that nothing much can be done about it except pay the bill.

In this era of loose spending of public money the board of county commissioners merits commendation for its efforts toward economy—but there's a bridge to be built on an important traffic street which has been bottle-necked by two years procrastination, and something should be done about it.

As an afterthought—if it's really to be a wooden bridge, by all means make it a COVERED bridge, so as to attract national attention to a unique example of attempting to meet modern traffic requirements with the facilities of horse-and-buggy days.

Fitting Education To Needs

STUDY used to be regarded as merely an academic matter. Young people "got an education" in the high schools and colleges. And the sequel was only too often, in later life, the mournful remark that "I once had a good education."

The modern idea of education, while not scorning the "academic" studies, is to supplement school work with living facts and never let college and the outer world get far apart.

So we find colleges here and there giving practical courses in the art of "studying intelligently" and doing it in co-operation with the newspapers. In this process they study the papers along with their books. And there are suitable rewards for apt students in the form of free courses in college work of a more academic kind.

Here is a fine way to combine college with life and make the hop-off easier when commencement day arrives.

That new defense agency, SPAB, should not be confused with any similar trade name.

A fast life is quickly finished.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In a small, second hand book store in Third Avenue I picked up a volume of Shakespeare for a dime. It was the Yale Shakespeare series and its title was Othello, the Moor of Venice. On the fly leaf, in neat, precise hand, was the signature: Harold Hutchinson, 1927, Middle Mass-Room 28."

When I saw this I thought back to a chap I knew at the University of Virginia. His name was John McQuade. McQuade was a transfer from Dartmouth. We came to know each other because we were members of the same fraternity and lived at the same house. One day, during the summer—this must have been in 1924—he introduced me to another Dartmouth man, a friend of his whose name was Harold Hutchinson.... "Hal," he called him . . . We three went on a party together, then separated. . . . Years later—that is to say, five or six years after we were out of school—someone asked me if I remembered Hal Hutchinson. I said "yes." They said, "He's dead. He was killed in an accident. In a plane. He crashed in a plane."

I tucked that information into a corner of my mind and did not use it again until I saw Hal's name on the fly leaf of this book. It said, "Harold Hutchinson, 1927, Middle Mass-Room 28." After giving it some thought, I am sure that '27 was his class, that room 28 in Middle Mass was where he lived at Dartmouth. . . . If any member of his family sees this and would like to have this volume, I will be glad to forward it to them. It would be easy to check the signature and the marginal notes throughout the book, which are numerous and probably in Hal's own hand.

THE other night about 1:30 I went down into Greenwich Village and was watching the show in El Chico when a grey, short-haired cat of ambiguous ancestry appeared suddenly out of nowhere, trotted across the floor and disappeared behind the piano on the bandstand, where the orchestra was busily playing a flamenco dance. The pianist never batted an eye, nor did any of the players or the actors.

"Did you see what I saw?" I asked Ben Collada, my host.

"That was Smoky," replied Ben, "she's got five kittens behind that piano."

Later after the show, the pianist conveniently got up so that I could squeeze behind the piano and have a look. The five little fellows were busily taking a midnight feed. They were about a week old. They were born right there on the bandstand. Ben provided Miss Smoky with a nice big roomy box upstairs in the office but she would have none of it. As fast as the kittens were taken upstairs she would seize them by the nape of the neck and hustle them back downstairs.

"That settled it," declared Ben. "She wants them back of that piano and there they're going to stay."

"What are you going to do with them," I asked him. "Keep 'em," he replied. "There are only five of the little kittens; besides, I like cats."

Could Russia Attain Democracy?

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

COULD Russia conceivably be transformed into a democracy?

Is it imaginable that it believes it IS one now?

Have President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill some sort of a lurking notion that maybe they actually can convert Comrade Stalin into a genuine democrat? Is that one of the things they want to confer with him about, in addition to conferring with him relative to wartime policies?

These questions are being asked in Washington and maybe in London, too.

Even those who ask them don't answer themselves very believingly in the affirmative. Nevertheless, it sounds odd to hear such queries put.

It's understandable why the world democracies' leaders deem it wise to aid the Muscovites all they can in the latters' fight with the Axis. Their opinion is that their imperative first consideration is to see Herr Hitler's and Signor Mussolini's types of totalitarianism destroyed, leaving Bolshevism to be worried about later on.

All the same, numerous suggestions have been made that Joe Stalin's system is due to be an exceedingly difficult institution to be democratically dealt with after the war, assuming the Nazis' and Fascists' extinction as a result of the pending conflict. Joe, on that supposition, having been very helpful to 'em, it'll be hard for the democracies to resume being dead against him as heretofore, and yet they certainly won't like Bolshevism any better than ever they did.

But suppose that Joe Stalin himself and the rest of the Bolsheviki have, in the meantime, become democratized.

Hints From Moscow.

Perhaps it's only wishful thinking, but it's a fact that hints have been coming from Moscow lately that are democratically favorably interpreted.

The Soviet folk manifestly are highly appreciative of their alliance with Britain and of our readiness to send 'em all possible supplies from the United States—on credit, if necessary, and it's made clear that we won't care much whether or not we ever collect.

I've referred already to the flood of news releases that Russian Ambassador Oumansky has been putting out from his Washington headquarters ever since the Nazis launched their attack on his home country and it became apparent to him that our sympathies generally were on his side of the campaign. Before that he hadn't peeped for publicity. Now I (and every correspondent in the capital) get mimeographed pages and pages from him daily, bidding for American support.

And there's scarcely a page that doesn't emphasize Russia as a democracy.

Traditional Friendship!

The ambassador's literature strongly stresses Russia's traditional friendship for the United States, dating back to czarist days and to the sociability of the two countries across Behring Strait.

But that Communistic Russia's a democracy is a different thing.

Is it just dressing itself up in a democratic disguise in an emergency, or is it honestly flopping democratically?

Russia's revolution from czarism is being quite intensively analyzed.

Originally it was intended to be an anarchist revolution. Anarchism is the ultimate of democracy—so violently ultimate that no rational student of society believes that it can be made to work. It didn't work in Russia's case, but drifted into a despotism about as bad as the czar's.

Listen World!

It's Doing Things

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IT'S REALLY doing things to us, this war abroad. Not that I like to award war medals for anything. S'far as I can see, it's all Sherman said it was, plus. And yet you've got to admit that this particular rumpus is doing important things to the human race.

Take the Allens, for example. You could always count on the Allens staging a brawl whenever the gang got together. Over what? Over anything! There they are, as fine people as you'd want to meet. Loyal friends . . . generous, tolerant, good-natured. Married over twenty years . . . making a home . . . raising a couple of grand kids. Yet they'll still fight at the drop of a hat; or, rather, they would—

Except since the war started they've been changing. You could see it happening. Not that they are any Doves of Peace by a long shot. They'll still flare up over the silliest trifles. But instead of going on until they wreck the house, they stop. Give each other a queer look. Grin sheepishly. And begin talking about something else.

Nor are they the only ones. Art and Ethel Hunt—they've changed too. It's years since anyone heard Art and Ethel have a good hearty laugh . . . or seen them take any particular interest in anything. Ever since their boy died, back in '32, they've acted half dead themselves. Just dragged themselves along making the motions.

Everyone was terribly sorry for them, of course, and wanted to help. And I don't suppose Art or Ethel ever dreamed how hard they made things for other folks, but they did. You couldn't talk with either of them for ten minutes without hearing all about the boy. And the operation. Then Ethel's face would sort of wither. The life would go out of it. She'd sit there with the big tears spilling over, not even bothering to wipe them away.

That's how it has been for years. But lately you'd hardly know them! Seems they've gotten interested in some little tykes in one of England's bombed towns. The youngsters lost everything—father, mother, home, all wiped out. Well, Art and Ethel heard about them. Got a few things together for them. And before they knew it, they were really interested. They asked around and found they could have one of these "remote control" adoptions . . . maybe bring the little fellows over here when things are safer. And now, believe it or not, it's all they talk about. Never saw such a change in any two people!

Even that silly little Wilkins woman—it's hit her too. Time was when she couldn't talk of a thing except herself. Her new permanent. Her zircon ring. How somebody said she looked Exactly like Queen Elizabeth. Then off on another tantrum, telling what a brute Ed was Never did understand her. Went out of his way to make her miserable . . . and so on and on 'till you wanted to scream! But lately how different. It's all Bundles for Britain and Red Cross work. I forget how many sweaters she's knitted. Anyway it's an all-time record. And besides all this she's writing to a dozen poor old cripples and lonesome kids here in the hospitals and camps.

Well, I never thought much of Hitler, but if he can do that to Agnes Wilkins you've gotta admit the boy has something!

Maybe we've all had something right along—a lot bigger and better than we guessed. I still insist war's hell, but looking at all these changed faces and changed hearts . . . seeing people crawl out of their old hard shells of selfishness and grief, indifference and conceit, I begin to suspect we've needed a little hell to set us free . . . and open the door on Heaven!

Timely Editorial

Long Week-End Hazards.

From time to time the suggestion comes—and from those in influential places—that our holidays, wherever possible, might well be made to fall on Mondays.

In the light, however, of the American's remarkable capacity for killing himself in traffic on such occasions, it would perhaps be as well to leave things as they are.

Thousands attempt journeys on the long holidays which they would not undertake in the ordinary course.

Mix the usual quota of drunks into the picture, and the fools and the careless, and the figures which show up regularly after each of these prolonged national holidays are inevitable.

There are thousands at the wheels of lethal machines who have no business there: and not all can be depended on to kill only themselves. They destroy others, and the property of others. They breed accidents. And the law, generally speaking, has found no quicker way to spot them than after the fact. One long week-end a year is plenty, in the present state of civilization on our highways.—Detroit News.

IN THE 1880 national Democratic convention held at Cincinnati Gen. Winfield Scott Hancock, a military hero, was nominated for the presidency.

The campaign that followed was notable for the lack of major issues and is chiefly remembered for Hancock's undeservedly ridiculed remark, "the tariff question is a local question." He lost the election to James A. Garfield.

Hancock achieved lasting fame as one of the great soldiers of the Civil war for his generalship at Gettysburg. Commanding the left wing, he thwarted Lee's all-but-successful attempt to turn the Union army's flank. During the battle, Hancock received a wound from which he never fully recovered.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Practice What You Preach!"

It is an old proverb; difficult, in the exact language quoted, to pin down to a precise source, though the idea has been frequently similarly couched.

Shakespeare, in the Merchant of Venice, puts it, "It is a good divine that follows his own instructions."

Samuel Johnson's version, in Rasselas, is, "Example is always more efficacious than precept."

And the eighteenth century poet, John Armstrong, embodied the sense and even the words of the admonition, in the lines of his The Art of Preserving Health:

"Of right and wrong he taught
Truths as refined as ever Athens heard;
And (strange to tell!) he practiced what he preached."

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Home Lovers.

He is happiest at home.
Tinkering around,
Working in his garden plot,
Brings him joy profound.

Can you name a better joy,
One that gives you more,
Than a happy home provides
With its treasure store?

He will shed his office cares
With his office clothes,
Take his tools and gardening,
Find in work repose.

Gracious is the joy of home
Where you move at will;
Those who love it never of
It can have their fill.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Roosevelt's Talk Cheers Britons, Anxious for More Help From U.S.

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

AN AMERICAN businessman returning from London opined that the man on the street in Britain was expecting the U. S. to become a "shooting" ally.

To acquaint Britons with the cold realities of America's contribution to the war, British newspapers and officials began speaking plainly:

The Sunday Express: "Changes are now taking place in American opinion which are not to our advantage. The current of American thought has set lately against partnership in our war."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden: The output of Britain and the U. S. "still falls far short of our needs."

The Sunday Times: "We are frankly disappointed" with U. S. aid. "There is a stream but no river. Is blushing a lost art?"

The Sunday Dispatch: "Only 20% of the American people would support a declaration of war today, according to polls of public opinion."

The Daily Sketch: "She (America) needs to do more than she is doing now if her promises are to be kept. There is no question that she has meant all her promises."

FDR's Stern Views.

President Roosevelt likewise spoke plainly, in his Labor day speech. He made it perhaps clearer than ever before that he did not consider American aid to Britain a magnanimous, samaritan gesture.

"Our vast effort," he said, "is due solely to our recognition of the fact that our fundamental rights . . . are threatened by Hitler's violent attempt to rule the world."

He spoke repeatedly of America's "enemies" and emphasized that "we shall do everything in our power to crush Hitler and his Nazi forces."

To Americans who saw Hitler's move into Russia as a signal to stop worrying, FDR said: "I give solemn warning . . . that they are making a very dangerous assumption. When in any war your enemy seems to be making slower progress . . . that is the very moment to strike with redoubled force. . . ."

"These enemies . . . know that our American effort is not yet enough. . . . Unless we step up the total of our production and more greatly safeguard it on its journeys to the battlefields, these enemies will take heart. . . ."

The previously-gloomy British press thereupon took cheer. The Daily Mail thought his talk foreshadowed American convoys: the Times said his speech "should put an end to the tendency '. . . to question the effectiveness of American help . . . and the determination by which it is inspired."

Quotes

William S. Knudsen, director of OPM, sees benefit in new supply priorities and allocation board set up by President Roosevelt: "Now we'll be able to sit down, all of the defense agencies in one place, and talk and think things out. Hitherto one agency talked and moved one way and another another way."

At Home

Gas Shortage.

Although the east's thinning stream of oil was augmented here and there last week, late vacationers and Labor day week-enders were burning up the road.

Operators of filling stations and oil burners—of home, industry, auto and truck—continued apprehensive of the threatened oil shortage in the east, born when seagoing tankers were put in service for the defense of the U. S. and Britain.

Acting Petroleum Co-ordinator Davies estimated a deficit of 27,800,000 barrels in oil products during the next four months in eastern states.

* * *

Headaches and Heartaches.

"A headache to us . . . a heartache to the taxpayers."

Thus spoke Senator Johnson (D-Colo.), a member of the finance committee, as the $3,672,400,000 revenue bill—the biggest in history—was reported to the senate.

The bill embraced more than 6,000,000 new income tax payers because of lowered exemptions. Senator Capper (R-Kas.) called it "a good bill" but gloomily forecast "next year's will be even stiffer." Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.) said it "plucks the goose that squawks the least" (meaning the little fellow), and CIO President Murray called it a "breach of faith with the common people."

Exemptions were lowered from $2,000 to $1,500 for a married man, from $800 to $750 for single.

* * *

SPAB Is Latest.

Vice-President Wallace was appointed chairman of the new seven-man Supply Priorities and Allocation Board, but he is a busy man, and well-informed congressmen said Donald Nelson, SPAB executive director and priorities director of OPM, probably will be the real power.

Nelson, formerly vice-president of Sears, Roebuck, was first called to Washington by FDR back in NRA days. A baldish and bespectacled Missourian, he is charged with carrying out the board's decision on what production may be spared for everyday life.

* * *

Typhus Test.

Typhus caused more casualties in the four years after the last great war than the four years of conflict. Thus, science is girding for a new aftermath of typhus. In an Andean mining district of Bolivia is a louse-born typhus that gives the area the highest typhus rate in this hemisphere. There, the Pan-American Union is sponsoring a mass experiment with a new vaccine discovered by Dr. Harold R. Cox of the U. S. public health service.

Abroad

Japan's Dilemma.

"Japan is in a mightily uncomfortable position. No friends in Asia . . . no money . . . astride the Chinese tiger.

"What isn't clear is how far Tokyo is prepared to recant, for it certainly must back water . . . to achieve agreement with Washington at this late date."

Thus wrote DeWitt Mackenzie, foreign news analyst, in commenting on the possibility that Japan and the U. S. would settle differences.

Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye—squeezed between moderate civilians and pugnacious militarists — acknowledged that Japan faced the gravest crisis in her history.

* * *

A Briton's Opinions.

Russia is now a full-fledged ally of Britain, and Prime Minister Churchill has pledged that England will render the Russians every possible assistance. Thus labor leaders attending the Trades Union Congress—Britain's "working man's parliament" — were roused by a report about one of Churchill's ministers, Col. J. T. C. Moore - Brabazon, Conservative minister for aircraft production. He was quoted as voicing the hope that Germany and Russia would "exterminate each other" to leave Britain the dominant power in Europe.

* * *

Assassin's Sympathizers.

Soon after Paul Colette, young DeGaullist Frenchman, shot pro-Nazis Pierre Laval and Marcel Deat a German firing squad killed at least eight inhabitants of Occupied France.

Sympathy for Colette, however, became so pronounced that even newspapers in German-held Paris were milder in their attacks on him, with some even defending him.

People

Lewis Repudiated.

Even before CIO's burly exprexy John L. Lewis made his final break with President Roosevelt and came out for Wendell Willkie for president, he growled about FDR's foreign policy.

He has continued to growl. For months he had many CIO leftwingers with him. They were suspicious of Britain and counted on Russia, in time, to cope with the Nazi menace. In June Germany invaded Russia.

During the week officers of one of the five largest unions in the CIO, the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America met and repudiated Lewis' stand by a vote of 382 to 5. Later the UERMWA ousted its young right-wing president, James Carey, in favor of a vice president, Albert Fitzgerald.

* * *

Missions.

President Roosevelt named W. Averell Harriman, recently lease-lend expediter to London, as head of an American delegation to Moscow for conferences on aid to Russia. Lord Beaverbrook will head Britain's delegation.

Two huge seaplanes full of uncommunicative Russians landed at Nome, Alaska, en route to Washington.

In Short

Crashed: An eastbound transatlantic transport plane bound for London, in British mountains. Ten persons were aboard, including two Americans.

Contended: That when times are tough, married men with several dependents seem to have a more cheerful outlook on life than bachelors without such responsibilities, by Columbia's Prof. Goodwin Watson.

Denied: To the America First Committee, use of Oklahoma City's municipal auditorium for speeches by Charles Lindbergh and Senator Wheeler, both critics of administration foreign policy. Thereupon they spoke in a ball park outside the city.

Confessed: The raping and slaying of at least seven women, by Jarvis Catoe, 36, Washington, D. C., Negro, according to Washington police. One of the three white victims was Jessie Strieff, pretty war department clerk, whose slaying touched off a congressional probe. New York police first got on Catoe's trail.

DEATH CLAIMS C. H. SUNNECKS

ASHLAND — Funeral services for Clarence Harry Sunnecks, who died Friday at his home on Savannah road, will be held Monday at 11 a. m. at the Heyl funeral home. Rev. H. E. Andrews, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will officiate. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

Mr. Sunnecks was born July 21, 1885, in Richland county. For the past two years he has resided near Ashland and served as keeper of the Aero Tavern near Ashland. Formerly he was employed as a railroad foreman and his death followed a railroad accident in which he was injured three years ago.

He is survived by his widow, Eva, and one son, William Allen, both at home.

If you must waste time, waste your own. Do not waste other peoples.

SELECT CORN QUEEN FRIDAY

Judges To Name Ruler of Bucyrus Festival at High School.

BUCYRUS — Elaborate plans are being formulated for the third annual corn show to be held here, Sept. 18-20.

From candidates selected from each of the county's rural schools and Bucyrus and Crestline city schools will be selected Corn Queen III, who will preside over the events of the show.

Selection of the Queen will be made Friday night in a program in the high school auditorium. Three judges will rule the selection. Judges have not yet been selected.

Events for the three-day affair include displays of farm products and stock; the appearance of Ed Barth, radio humorist and speaker from the Ohio state department of agriculture; the parade on Saturday evening climaxed with a street dance. Corn husking contests and other contests are also included in the entertainment.

Cups, merchandise and cash prizes are being offered in the various classifications and events.

Bucyrus "2-B" club is sponsoring the show.

THEATERS

Lively Farce.

"Charley's Aunt" the hilarious new Jack Benny vehicle playing at the Ohio, gives the popular star of stage, screen and radio, his liveliest role thus far. As a good fellow who masquerades as a woman to help a couple of college friends out of a jam Benny finds himself involved with pretty girls and pursued by elderly gentlemen. Kay Francis furnishes fun as the real aunt and the supporting cast includes Reginald Owen, Arleen Whelan, Laird Cregar and Edmund Gwenn.

* * *

Exciting Drama.

Set against Pacific coast night life, "Manpower," the action-packed picture showing at the Madison, presents George Raft, Marlene Dietrich and Edward G. Robinson in the dramatic story of two high tension lineman and the blond hostess of a clip joint. The girl just out of the penitentiary, invades the life of the two men, and the one enacted by Robinson, persuades her to marry him. When she decides to return to her old life the trouble starts. Alan Hale and Frank McHugh are cast. Rio de Janiero is the locale for the second picture, "Charlie Chan in Rio," featuring Sidney Toler.

Spanish Thriller.

"Blood and Sand," the spectacular technicolor production based on Vincente Blasco Ibanez' story of a fearless matador and his death-defying adventures in the arena opens Sunday at the Ritz. Starring Tyrone Power as the bullfighter who is torn between love for a beautiful temptress, played by Rita Hayworth, and his wife, enacted by Linda Darnell, the picture has been filmed against a background of Mexico City where thousands of natives were used in the arena scenes. The supporting cast includes Nazimova, as the matador's mother, J. Carrol Naish, Lynn Bari and John Carridine. "Bad Man of Deadwood," is the second attraction.

* * *

Historical Romance.

"That Hamilton Woman," Alexander Korda's picture showing the rise of Lady Hamilton as a power in the Neopolitan court, opens Sunday at the Park with Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier in the leading roles. Miss Leigh plays the fascinating Lady Hamilton whose beauty was idealized on canvas by the great portrait painter of her time. Olivier is seen as Lord Nelson, hero of Trafalgar and Alan Mowbray plays Lord Hamilton. The cast also has Gladys Cooper and Henry Wilcoxon. The second picture, "The Gang's All Here," dealing with a trucking war, stars Frankie Darro.

* * *

Detective Comedy.

Walter Pidgeon plays the popular detecive, Nick Carter, in "Sky Murder," opening at the Majestic, Sunday. Assigned to run down a band of international criminals plotting against the government, Pidgeon is aided by a flighty but efficient feminine sleuth in the person of Joyce Compton. Donald Meek, the eccentric apiarist of other Nick Carter pictures, Karen Verne and Edward Ashley are also cast. "City For Conquest," is the co-attraction.

MRS. EDWARDS FETED AT PARTY IN ASHLAND

Mrs. Virgil Moffett, Misses Hester and Katherine Robinson Entertain for Recent Bride, the Former Naomi Stutz.

RETURNING recently from her wedding trip, Mrs. W. S. Edwards, the former Naomi Stutz, was honored last evening at the first of a series of post-nuptial parties. Friends motored to Ashland to the home of Mrs. Virgil Moffett for a dessert-bridge party. Misses Hester and Katherine Robinson of Pavonia assisted their sister, Mrs. Moffett, with arrangements for the party. Mrs. Al Fendrick of Mifflin was the only out-of-town guest besides the Mansfielders.

The group surprised Mrs. Edwards with a shower of bathroom gifts which she found by following directions on rhymes fastened to small packages of soap. The hostesses also gave her a bathroom gift.

The diversion was played at four tables following the luncheon. High score awards were given to Miss Katherine Culp, Miss Dorothy Moser and Miss Emmogene Nisonger. When the guests were served, the small tables were decorated with dainty appointments in pink and small bouquets of garden flowers centered each table.

Miss Lella Graeff, who served as maid of honor for Mrs. Edwards, will entertain tonight at her apartment at the Country Day school, Blymyer avenue.

Round Table Discussion Held

"What I Have Learned In My Garden" was the topic of the round table discussion held at the meeting of the Johnny Appleseed Garden club Friday. Mrs. Harold Bruce, Davis road, was hostess to 18 members. Mrs. Henry Sanford led the discussion forum and many interesting experiences were given.

Plans were discussed for the state meeting, the Garden Club Day of Ohio, to be held here on Sept. 24 at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Luncheon was served at the noon hour with Mrs. William Weldon, jr., and Mrs. Louis J. Ott presiding. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. T. Lusignan, jr., Edgewood road.

Extra lemon or caramel pie filling makes a grand top spread for crisp crackers for after-school snacks.

Spinster Party Held for Miss Thelma Still

Mrs. Harry Lantz and Mrs. Harry Lytle entertained recently at the Lantz home on South Mulberry street with a spinster party and linen shower in honor of Miss Thelma Still who exchanged nuptial vows today at 1:30 p. m. with Willys F. Braun of Wheaton, Ill.

Luncheon was served the 12 guests in attendance at small tables attractively decorated. In the center of the tables stood a spinning wheel. Attached to the sides of the wheel were threads of crochet cotton ending at the small tables. Thimbles, attached to the threads of cotton, were the place favors.

Other appointments were in pastel shades. Many gifts were presented the honoree at the close of the evening. Mrs. Lantz presented the honoree with a household gift and Mrs. Lytle presented her with an electrical gift. The evening was then spent socially. Mrs. Lytle served as matron-of-honor for Miss Still.

Elect Officers At Booster Class Meeting Friday

Members of the Booster class of the Central Methodist church held their first meeting of the year Friday evening in the church parlors. Virt Simpson was elected president to succeed A. T. Owen during the short business session. Fifty-two members were in attendance.

William Yarger presented several accordian selections during the evening and Mrs. N. C. Yarger offered piano solos. Contests were played and prizes won by Mrs. Herschel Hecker, Mrs. Burdsell Blaney and Mrs. Frank Breckenridge. Kenneth Weimer showed moving pictures at the close of the evening.

Luncheon was served at a u-shaped table decorated with green appointments and pink gladioli. Members of the organization in charge of arrangements were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weimer, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hecker, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Constance, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Allmendinger and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Owen.

WOODVILLE CLUB.

Mrs. Harold Mast, South Main street, entertained members of the Woodville Social club at her home Friday afternoon. Mrs. Carl Dupre served as associate hostess. Nineteen members and two guests, Mrs. Joseph Liabach and Mrs. Elmer Mast, were in attendance. Bunco was the diversion of the afternoon. Prizes were won by Mrs. Tom Long and Mrs. Minnie McCullough. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting at small tables decorated with garden flowers. A steak roast will be held Sept. 17 at the cottage of Mrs. Fred Dillon, Mifflin lake.

New Type of Sport Scarf

This heathermist scarf is an authentic plaid. The hand-crocheted beanie matches the dominant color in the scarf. The scarf is draped vestee-fashion over a beige wool dress. It can be draped from the shoulder Tartan style.

Miss Armstrong Entertained at Schultz Home

Miss Pauline Armstrong of Crestline, bride-elect of Howard Falk, 97 Glenwood Heights, was honored last evening at a lovely pre-nuptial shower. Mrs. Tony Schultz, 404 Newman street, was hostess at her home to members of the Noven Aces club and several guests. Miss Armstrong, wh is well known here, is employed at the Mansfield General hospital.

The group presented her with a shower of linen gifts and an electrical gift. Bunco was the diversion of the evening and prizes were won by Mrs. Josephine Schomer, Miss Theresa Varga and the honoree. Miss Varga and Mrs. Schomer gave their gifts to the bride-elect.

At a late hour a luncheon was served at one long table centered with garden flowers and other appointments in pink and white. Guests present were Miss Beckey Armstrong of Crestline, Mrs. Esther Fry and Mrs. Jessie Bostwick of this city.

The Armstrong-Falk vows will be exchanged Sept. 28 at the First English Lutheran church in Crestline.

Mrs. H. J. Paulsen Speaks at Meeting Of Garden Club

Mrs. H. J. Paulsen, a member of the Linneaus Garden club, was a guest speaker for the regular meeting of the Mansfield Garden club Friday morning. The group was entertained at the home of Mrs. Charles Schroer, Woodhill road, with Mrs. J. E. LaDow as associate hostess. Mrs. Paulsen furnished a most educational and instructive program on "Flower Arrangements" and displayed many unusual exhibits composed of flowers from her own garden.

Twenty-five were present for the meeting and during the business session Mrs. Alfred Colby gave a report on school gardens. Announcement was made that the school children of Mansfield plan to save seeds to send to England.

Luncheon was served at the noon hour with Mrs. J. C. Gorman and Mrs. T. J. Newcomb presiding. On Oct. 3 the club will meet at the Women's Club with Mrs. Paul Bovard and Mrs. Frederick Crouse as hostesses.

* * *

AUXILIARY MEETING.

Mrs. Mary Hartman was in charge of the meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Eagles lodge when the regular session was held Friday evening at the Eagles hall. Plans were made for a covered dish dinner and card party for members and husbands to be held Saturday evening, Sept. 27 at the hall. The next business session will take place Sept. 19.

* * *

REGULAR MEETING.

Members of the Willing Workers society of the Little Washington church held their all-day quilting meeting Thursday at the church. A covered-dish dinner was served at noon. The September birthday dinner will be held next Thursday at the church.

Varied Program Given at Garden Club Meeting

Twenty-one attended the meeting of the Town and Country Garden club held Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Paul Endriss, 363 Ruth avenue. Following a routine business session Mrs. Walter Willis, horticulture chairman, spoke on "Growing Anemonies" and "Garnet Pentstemous." A report on the conservation meeting held recently at the Louis Olson home was given by Mrs. Herbert Gibbs, conservation chairman.

Mrs. H. C. Little furnished the main part of the program, giving a book review on "Fun With Flowers," by Ferguson and Sheldon. Mrs. Merritt Giles, Crescent road, will entertain the club group on Sept. 19. Luncheon was served with Mrs. David Shelley presiding. The table was attractive with an arrangement of bachelor buttons and African daisies.

Astowela Club Has Breakfast Party Friday

Meeting for breakfast at 10:30 Friday morning at the Women's Club, Astowela club members were entertained by Mrs. A. L. Price and Mrs. C. A. Hines. Twenty-two were served at tables decorated with garden flowers. During a brief business session plans were discussed for the Garden Club Day of Ohio meeting to be held here Wednesday, Sept. 24. All the Mansfield garden clubs will participate in the arrangements.

Mrs. Hines presented the program at the meeting yesterday, showing colored still pictures on "Gardens and Travel Scenes." Her subjects included lovely scenes in Mansfield, Williamsburg, Va., Florida and Nassau.

Members will meet again on Sept. 19 at the Women's Club with Miss Carolyn Walter and Mrs. W. J. Spreng as hostesses. Roll call will be answered on "My Favorite Flower Combination."

Lucretia Hedges Unit Meets at Hout Home

Mrs. George Hout, Sturges avenue, entertained members of the Lucretia Hedges Unit of the First Methodist church Friday afternoon at her home. Guest speaker for the occasion was Miss Virginia Wagner, who told in an interesting manner of her recent trip to Mexico. She displayed many attractive articles which she had collected while there. Devotions were led by Mrs. C. L. Lisle.

Mrs. James Rizer conducted the business session at which time plans were made for the district conference dinner meeting to be held Tuesday. This will be composed of members of the Northeast Ohio Conference of Methodist churches. At a late hour luncheon was served by Mrs. Hout, Mrs. Herbert Bridges and Miss Nellie McIlvaine. The next meeting will be held Oct. 3 at the Rizer home, Ruth avenue.

* * *

J. U. N. CLUB.

Mrs. George Nikolaus, North Main street road, was hostess to members of the J. U. N. club at her home Friday afternoon. All members and two guests, Mrs. Robert Powell of Wheeling, W. Va., and Miss Louisa Nikolaus, were in attendance. The afternoon was spent socially and at a late hour refreshments were served. The date and place of the next meeting will be announced later.

HERE AND THERE

Also visiting Dr. and Mrs. Lindsey last week were Mr. and Mrs. Elmore E. Lindsey and family of New York City, who are now spending several days in Mansfield.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I pushed back the obvious comment that we already were sure Marion never had written the letter to Ronald except under compulsion, and instead gave enthusiastic interest to her assertion.

"How do you know that?" I asked.

"May I have the book a second?" she asked, and I handed it to her, watching her intently as she ruffled the pages until she came to a place where the thin sheets seemed to have changed to a sort of thickened pad.

"Do you happen to have a tiny sharp knife in your sewing kit," she asked, "the kind you use in ripping seams?"

"Yes, I'll get it in a second," I said, and went noiselessly through the masked door into the bedroom of the balcony suite, secure from interrupting my father's interview with Nancy Carew because of the door between the living room and the bedroom which I had closed at his bidding.

But though neither of them had any idea that I was within hearing, I could not help hearing my father's voice, unusually loud for him, as he put a tense question:

"Ricardo? Stepan Ricardo? Are you sure that was his name when you first knew him? What is your proof?"

I could hear Nancy Carew's low, trainante voice answering him, but could not distinguish her words. And, of course, I did not spend even a fraction of a second in listening. But, as I took the tiny penknife from my work case in my overnight bag and sped back to Mary with it, the conviction was strong upon me that the name Nancy Carew had uttered was a familiar one to my father, and that the information she had brought him was of distinct value in his present problem.

Mary's eager fingers almost snatched the small knife from my hand, but when she had opened it she paused for a courteous inquiry.

"I don't think this will hurt its cutting edge," she said, "but if it does—?"

"What does it matter if it is ruined?" I said. "Use it in any way you please, but quickly."

"I get you," she said comprehendingly. "I won't delay the game any longer. There," as she ran the edge of the knife around the four corners of what had seemed to me to be a thickened pad of the thin paper, "look at that!"

"That!" proved to be an ingenious arrangement of two thin sheets of paper each lined with a heavy, white, glossy sheet, with four other sheets between them, cut out at top, bottom, and sides to form a tiny box, the whole presenting the appearance of a thickened pad. And from the box Mary drew a folded pad of the thin paper which just fitted the opening.

"This just shows what a dope I am," Mary said. "I'd completely forgotten this thing which was Marion's chief delight in the old days. I'm sure we'll find in here the part of our old code which will make me sure she's telling us she was forced to write that letter."

She opened the pad of flimsy paper with such quick reckless fingers that I spoke a quick word of caution.

"Careful, Mary!" I warned her. "That's been folded that way a long time. You may tear it."

"I have," she said ruefully, as she displayed the havoc her too eager fingers had made.

"But the writing isn't hurt," she went on hopefully, scanning the first page, "and here's the dope, just as I figured it a minute ago.

"Gee, you're a spark plug, Auntie Madge!" she said, as she handed me the flimsy sheets, pointing to a sentence half way down the first page, then went on: "If you hadn't prodded me into action, I'd have given this up altogether. But when I looked at Marion's letter again after you came in, and saw that line, 'This thing is to strong for me,' with the 'too' misspelled, then I remembered this. Look for yourself!"

I looked, and saw in Marion's unmistakable chirography, though more unformed than her present script, the words which I knew must have thrilled her childish soul when she penned them:

"If the words, 'This thing is too strong for me'," she had written, "has the word 'too' spelled 'to,' then it means 'I am being forced to write this'."

CHAPTER XXIV

Curt was waiting to see April when she awakened from her nap. Miss Sayres the day nurse combed her hair and bathed her face and put a frilly bed jacket on her before he came in. Then she went out and left them alone.

"Hello, darling," Curt bent and kissed April lightly on the lips. "You're looking very beautiful today."

He sat down and took April's hand. She held it tightly.

"I'm feeling better every day. I'll be out of here, soon, won't I, dear? Very soon."

"Very soon!" Curt nodded. "And I want you to do something very special for me, darling."

"What is it? You know I'd do anything for you, Curt. You're so good to me."

Curt leaned closer. "Anything, my beloved?"

"Well," April smiled, "almost anything. What is it, Curt?"

"Promise me," he put his lips to her cheek, "you'll marry me here at the hospital, and let me take you to Pennyhaven, I want to know you're there when I can take care of you. Will you, darling?"

April drew away, her heart sinking. "Oh, no," she said quickly. "I can't do that, Curt. Not until I'm up and walking about. I wouldn't feel right about it. You must wait until I'm well."

Curt closed his eyes, holding her close:

"Oh, but my sweet, you mustn't feel that way. If you knew how much I wanted to take you home to Pennyhaven to take care of you, you'd marry me without hesitating. I'm being selfish, dear, I know. But I just want you near me. That's all I ask."

April said with a sudden fear: "You—you're afraid I'll never walk again. That—that's why you're afraid to wait."

* * *

Curt denied quickly: "No, no! You mustn't talk such nonsense. It's just that Pennyhaven is so much better equipped with all the things you need, darling. You need to be in a country place, not an apartment. That's the reason."

April shook her head swiftly: "No, Curt. I couldn't marry you until I'm able to walk. It wouldn't be fair to you."

"Gay is going to be very much disappointed," Curt argued. "We've talked it over, and she feels the same way as I do about it. She says she would want to go back to Douglaston for a while if you didn't come to us. She'd be worried about you."

"Oh, but she mustn't," April said. "It wouldn't be right for her to leave Penny. Hyacinthe and Cherry can take care of me. If they can't I can have a nurse for a while. Why the way you talk, Curt, you'd think I planned to be an invalid for the rest of my life."

Curt winced, kissing her tenderly on the top of the head.

"You'd better think it over and decide I'm right, dear. Because I'm not going to be easy to convince that I'm not right. Don't make up your mind definitely. If you love me just a little, try to see it my way."

April held his hand to her cheek: "I'll try to see it your way, dear. But I'm afraid I can't. I'll walk when they let me out of this darn plaster cast. You'll see! I'm almost tempted to get up and try it sometimes with this thing on. Oh, I'm tired of being in bed."

Curt said with an effort: "I know you are, dear. But you must be patient. After all you did get quite a shaking up. You don't know how lucky you are to be alive. They didn't give us any hope for days, you know."

A little later April said: "Hill was here today. With Kenny."

"I know you were glad to see them." Curt looked away. "I suppose you thought Kenny had grown."

"Like a weed," April said maternally. "And he looks so funny without his teeth. Bless his heart! Hill is teaching him how to play golf."

"I guess Hillyer has been spending a lot of time with the lad. Curt said. "It's nice they're getting together oftener."

"I'm glad," April sighed. "Hill looks a wreck. I guess it's because he's been working so hard getting his new golf school organized. Isn't it marvelous he's going into business? I know he'll be a success, if he settles down. With his personality, nothing can stop him."

"I hope he makes a go of it," Curt De Witt said heartily. "He certainly knows his golf."

* * *

"I wonder," April mused, "if he's really going to marry Dru Bayne. He almost snapped my head off when I asked him if he was married to her. You'd have thought I'd insulted him."

Curt shrugged: "Dru won't mix very well with his business, I'm afraid. She wouldn't like a husband who devoted his time to anything but her. What she needs is a gigolo."

"I don't believe," April said thoughtfully, "that role would suit Hill. Somehow, I have a feeling he has changed. He seems to have grown up all of a sudden. It makes me think I was right to divorce him. Standing on his own feet was what he needed. I always thought so."

"Losing you, my darling should make any man think if he is ever going to do anything," Curt bent, kissing her tenderly. "I love you, April. So terribly. Let's just talk about us. Can't I make you change your mind and marry me now? Every minute I live without you is wasted."

April held him close, wanting so much to make him happy. But she could not bring herself to promise she would marry him before she could walk again.

* * *

Hill had seen very little of Drusilla Bayne since the early morning hours when they had walked out of the night club and learned from the headlines that April was in Channing hospital. Drusilla was becoming desperate with the fear that she was losing Kent Hillyer.

When she had to make excuses to her friends for Hill's continued absence from their parties her ego suffered almost more than she could bear. As a substitute escort she was being seen quite frequently with a well-known band leader, but Hill was her only real interest.

In all of Drusilla's hectic life she had never been as interested in any man as Kent Hillyer. She was glad he hadn't any money because if he married her fortune she would have him tied, she reasoned in her own peculiar way.

Dru had to admit to herself that she had tricked Hill into getting engaged to her, but she had no intention of letting him get away. It was no joke to her. She'd been in love with him too long. Ever since she had seen him win the championship at Miami, Dru had considered Hill the most desirable man she'd ever seen.

His indifference to her had only served to pique her interest. Drusilla was so used to men finding her irresistible. Hill's almost brutal blindness to her charms made her the more determined to capture and hold him.

Hill had taken Kenny home after seeing his mother at the hospital, and stayed with the child while he had his bath and supper. Then he had read to Kenny a few minutes before he went to sleep. Afterward he drove back to Flushing, stopping at a lunch wagon for a hurried bite to eat. He was tired and he wanted to get back to his apartment and go over some plans for the golf school.

Hill took a shower and got into his pajamas and robe. Then he sat down at his desk and began to work. It was difficult to concentrate because the picture of April lying helpless in the hospital blotted out everything else.

* * *

After a time he gave up trying to work on the plans and got up to pace the floor. The thought that April would always be helpless, that she would never walk and dance and be gay again was almost more than he could bear.

How would April react when she learned the truth? Would Curt De Witt still want to marry her? Would she marry him, knowing she would be a helpless cripple? What would happen to the beautiful girl who had once been his wife? The woman he had hurt so deeply that she had preferred a divorce to going on as they had been going.

How right she had been about his duty to his family. All the time he had known she was right, but if he had admitted it he would have admitted he was lazy and had been shirking his responsibility as a husband and father.

What woman with an ounce of pride or character could have lived with a man who would not bear his share of the burdens attached to a home and the raising of children? Now he would give his life to be able to take all of April's burdens from her slender, tired shoulders and it was too late.

Hill walked the floor in agony of remorse, his face lined with anxiety. If only he could have Kenny with him while April was ill, it might not seem quite so lonely. But he had no right to his son. He had forfeited that right.

Finally, Hill went to a decanter on the side board and poured himself a drink, gulping it swiftly. Then he lit a cigaret and strode to the desk and sat down to pour again over the plans for the golf school. He had to snap out of it, he told himself sternly, or he would go out of his mind.

* * *

There was no sense in letting his nerves get the better of him he reasoned. If he let go he would be of no use to April whatsoever. The only way in which he could help her was to work hard and save money and take over all the financial responsibility possible.

At least she would never need worry about money, if he could make a success of the Kent Hillyer School of Golf. He'd find a way to make her accept his help after she got out of the hospital, no matter how strenuously she objected.

Hill was bent over the remodeling plans, trying hard to concentrate and get his mind off April and her helplessness when the door bell rang. He swore mildly. There was only one thing to do. Refuse to answer it.

But when the bell rang long and continuously, as though the caller meant to ring all night if necessary, Hill got up to answer it. It was Drusilla. She was the last person he had expected to see, as she had never been to his apartment.

"Hello, darling," she smiled sweetly. "I hope you weren't asleep."

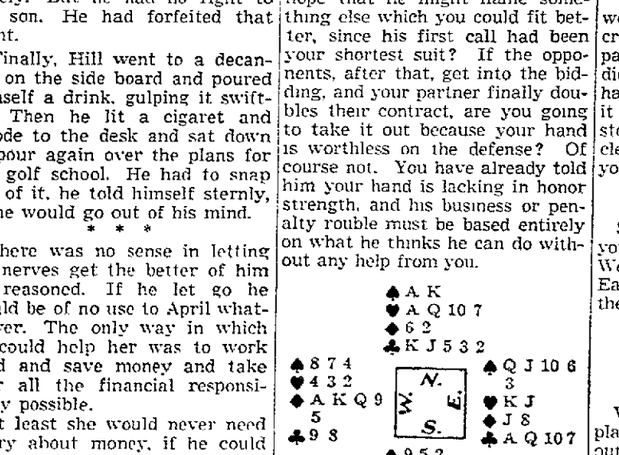
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE HAND IS WORTHLESS

DID YOU ever bid one of a suit over your partner's opening bid of a lower-ranking suit, and then, after he bid one of a still higher-ranking suit, pass on your next turn? You never did that with a good hand, did you? Wasn't your only purpose, in bidding at all, the hope that he might name something else which you could fit better, since his first call had been your shortest suit? If the opponents, after that, get into the bidding, and your partner finally doubles their contract, are you going to take it out because your hand is worthless on the defense? Of course not. You have already told him your hand is lacking in honor strength, and his business or penalty rouble must be based entirely on what he thinks he can do without any help from you.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	Dbl
2 ♣	Dbl	2 ♥	Pass
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	Pass
Dbl

After East made that contract, plus two extra tricks, losing only to the heart A, spade A and spade K, North raved at his partner, who is an experienced duplicate strategist and a great hand for psychological stuff—if you know what we mean.

"If your hand couldn't stand the double," said North, "you should have taken it out."

"You already knew," said South, "from my pass of your 1-Heart, that I couldn't stand any double. Therefore your double was based entirely on your own hand. You should not have doubled them unless you could see it all alone, and that's what I thought you were doing."

"Well, we get a cold bottom score in this duplicate, through your pass," pressed North.

"No, indeed," said South. "I had won the hand for us with my crazy diamond bid. If I had passed, as probably everybody else did in my position, East would have reached 4-Spades easily. As it was, my bid caused them to stop below game, and we had a clear top score until you made your double."

* * *

Your Week-End Lesson.

Suppose East passes as dealer, you bid 1-Diamond in the South, West passes, North calls 1-Heart, East bids 1-Spade and you hold the following hand:

♠ A J 10 8
♥ 6
♦ A Q J 7 4
♣ K J 10

Toledo Club Upsets Ethiopian Clowns at Fairground

Sport Podge by REX HESS

This sports world is getting all twisted around again.

Now that the baseball season is winding up for the summer, and in some places, including Mansfield, is already wound up, and now that the football season is limbering up for an early opening, guess what season is threatening to get under way.

That's right!

BASEBALL SEASON!

* * *

Four Richland county high schools, not big enough for football, and not interested in six-man football, are considering a baseball league for this fall.

The schools are Lucas, Lexington, Ontario and Union.

And these same schools, I have no doubt, will be opening the basketball season long before their other Richland playmates at Madison, Bellville and Butler are through with the gridiron sport.

It's all very confusing.

* * *

A bewildered fellow am I,
My calendar's gone all awry,
Last Spring it was football,
Now it's baseball this Fall,
Will someone please tell me why.

* * *

Prexy Joe Donnelly of the Ohio State league gave a speech the other evening at an appreciation dinner for Fremont's loop champions.

Said Donnelly: "I was tickled to death when I first saw the Fremonts play last Spring. Says I to myself: I can pick the finish for that club easily enough. It'll be last place."

* * *

Quite a few people are aware by this time that Hammerin' Harry the Meanderin' Mehock, of erstwhile golfing fame, is back in town after a summer vacation from his school athletic duties.

They may or may not be sorry to learn that he has given up golf.

"I will not play you at the golf," Mehock tells me, "but I will take you for a bit of fishing some snappy week-end. And I mean I will TAKE YOU!"

* * *

What does he think this game is, anyhow? Dealer's choice?

* * *

So, give three cheers
For Old Dutch Beers,
Their suds did drown
The famous Clowns.

15 Lettermen At Denison

Five Backs and 10 Linemen Return To Gridiron.

GRANVILLE — (AP) — Coach Tommy Rogers has a right to be cheerful about the prospects of his Denison university team in the coming football campaign.

Rogers has 15 lettermen returning, although some of them may be called into military service before the season is over.

Capt. Jack Jones, Granville senior, heads a quintet of veterans available for backfield duty, while there are five guards, three tackles, an end and a center among the line lettermen.

The backs include Urban Hubona of Chicago, Joe Ditirro of Euclid, Jack Riley of Canton and David Sauer of Minneapolis; guards, Charles Young and Gerald Athey of Granville, Franklin Dippery of Van Wert, James Myers of Akron and Roy Seils of Rochester, N. Y.; tackles, Robert Hannaway and Jack Bellar of Columbus and Gerald Robinson of Granville; end, George Trautman, jr., of Columbus; center, Delvin Johnson of Granville.

Two of last season's veterans enlisted for military service. Bill Edwards of New York, an end, joined the air corps, and Art Staddon, center, is attending naval reserve school.

PROVIDENTS PLAY CUYAHOGA FALLS

Mansfield's state champion Provident Loan girls softball team will tackle Cuyahoga Falls tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at Johns park in a final tune-up for the national tournament this week at Detroit.

The girls will leave for Detroit Wednesday morning, and the tourney opens on the same day.

PLYMOUTH, GIANTS MEET

Plymouth Locomotives and the Mansfield Colored Giants baseball teams will meet tomorrow at the New London fairgrounds for a play off game. Both teams have won one game in a two out of three series.

Baseball Reaches Dog Days

Dodger-Card Battle's Only Bright Spot Left.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

THESE are the dog days in baseball.

One pennant has been won. The other race has narrowed to two teams. Kids you never heard of are getting their chance in big league lineups. And open dates keep more teams idle than there are playing on any given day.

* * *

This is just a temporary letdown, of course—all of the clubs go back into the trenches today—but it has provided a pause for consideration of the three weeks that remain of the season. The rest of the show will be a close-up of the National league stars—the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals.

* * *

Otherwise, there remain only a few minor conflicts to be straightened out—matters like the tie of the Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox for second place in the American league and the struggle between the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates for third place in the National.

Brooklyn battles the New York Giants today in one game and tomorrow in two. The Cards have the Cincinnati Reds on their hands for the same schedule.

Tuesday the last intersectional warfare of the season will get under way, then two days later the Cards and Dodgers will get at each other's throats once more.

The three games these teams will play at St. Louis Thursday, Friday and Saturday might go a long way toward settling things.

* * *

Leo Durocher is grooming his Dodger pitching staff for them. Fred Fitzsimmons, fat and 40, is slated to pitch the first game and won't work until then. Whitlow Wyatt will work the second contest and Curt Davis the third.

* * *

Billy Southworth will counter with Ernie White and Howard Pollet in the first two engagements and, if these two lefthanders get along all right, he may throw another southpaw, Max Lanier, at the Dodgers in the final tilt.

The Pirates split a doubleheader with Cincinnati yesterday to stay a half game out of third place. In the opener Eddie Joost hit a homer with the bases loaded to climax Cincinnati's eight-run rally in the eighth inning and give Paul Derringer a 10-4 victory. In the nightcap, which rain abbreviated, Lloyd Dietz pitched six-hit ball for a 1-0 triumph over Ray Starr.

Elden Auker pitched a five-hitter as the St. Louis Browns beat the White Sox, 3-1, last night to toss Chicago back into a tie with Boston.

FREMONT DEFEATS BIRMINGHAM CLUB

FREMONT—(UP)—The Fremont Green Sox, Ohio State league champions, defeated the Birmingham, Ala., Barons of the National Colored league here last night in a post-season exhibition game, 6 to 4.

Outfielder Buddy Eagan hit a home run with a mate on base in the last of the 15th to decide the extra-inning contest. Lefty Hal Cisgen, youthful Lorain southpaw, went the route for the Green Sox.

ONTARIO MEETS IBERIA

Ontario's baseball team will play hosts to the Iberia nine tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., club officials announced today. Petie Beer will cover the mound for Ontario while Scott or Burgroff pitches for Iberia.

Senior Loop Flag Hinges on Crucial Series

In a three-game series in St. Louis Sept. 11-13, the National league pennant may be decided. And, in that series, the Dodgers and the Cardinals will rely on the good right or left arms of their star hurlers. The Dodgers will send Kirby Higbe, Whit Wyatt and perhaps Curt Davis to the hill as starters. The Cards probably will retaliate with their rookie sensation, Howard Pollet, Ernie White and the veteran Lon Warneke. Both the Cards and the Brooklyns have other topnotch hurlers ready to go.

Helen Jacobs Renews Tennis Feud With Former Teammate

NEW YORK — (AP) — The most dramatic of the semi-final matches today in the National Tennis championships at Forest Hills is practically certain to be one between that grand veteran from California, Helen Hull Jacobs, and her long-time rival and Wightman cup teammate, Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke of New York.

* * *

It might seem to some folks that it was only yesterday when Helen began her long series of duels with pig-tailed Helen Wills. But that actually was back in the fabulous twenties, and "Helen the second" today is a mature woman of 33.

* * *

Yet, so help this possibly biased observer, she lacks so little of being as good as ever that it is more than likely she will be the one to hold out her arms when they start passing the silverware late tomorrow. That would be No. 5 for a fine campaigner.

If she trims Mrs. Cooke today—as she should—then it probably will be Helen against Pauline Betz of Los Angeles in tomorrow's finals.

Of the men's semi-finals, the easier to call appeared to be the one between Bobby Riggs, 1939 champion, and Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif. Riggs looked like a million in trouncing Frankie Parker 6-4, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2 yesterday. Schroeder eliminated Bryan Grant, jr., in four sets yesterday.

* * *

In the opposite bracket, it was defending champion Don McNeill of Gambier, O., against Frank Kovacs, the tall boy who scored three straight victories over McNeill this summer prior to the championships.

* * *

McNeill appears finally to have recaptured his 1940 form, and his triumph over Wayne Sabin in the quarter-finals stamped him a dangerous player, indeed.

Dodson Leads Golf Open

Hillbilly Cards 135 For 36 Holes at Tam O' Shanter.

By EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO —(AP)— Golf fans, meet the young man from the Ozarks, Leonard Dodson, a swashbuckling vagabond of the bunkers who'll bet you on anything, any time, anywhere — and probably make you like it.

* * *

He's the laughing boy of professional golf today, for he's leading the $11,000 Tam O'Shanter golf championship field with a 36-hole total of 133—and has a great chance to come in tomorrow night with the $2,000 first prize money.

* * *

Dodson, who had a seven under par 65 in the opening round, added a fine 68 to his record yesterday for a 133 total that is only three shots under the PGA scoring record. Three shots back, as the field headed into today's third round of 18 holes, was Byron Nelson of Toledo, who had a 69 yesterday for a 136 aggregate.

* * *

Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., leading money winner of the year, blazed a second round 66 for a 139 total, one shot ahead of the 140 aggregates held by Al Huske, Dekalb, Ill., who had a second round 71, and Henry Ransom of Fort Worth, Tex., who held a pair of 70's.

* * *

In all, 18 players bettered par of 144 for the 36 holes, among them Vic Ghezzi, the PGA champion, who was at 142.

Toledo Fights For Playoff

Downs Louisville, 7-3, In Battle To Crowd In.

(By Associated Press)

The door to the American Association playoffs is still open to Toledo and the Mudhens are battling desperately to crowd in.

* * *

Toledo is a game and a half back of Kansas City and must play three games with Indianapolis. Kansas City has a doubleheader both today and tomorrow against St. Paul and a split in each would assure the Blues of a tie for fourth, even if Toledo won three.

* * *

The Mudhens continued their last-ditch fight last night with a 7 to 3 victory over Louisville.

Meantime, Kansas City lost to Minneapolis in the tenth inning, 3 to 2.

* * *

Columbus continued its winning pace by defeating Indianapolis 5 to 4. Tommy Heath and Ray Sanders doubled in the ninth with none out to end the contest.

* * *

The eighth-place Milwaukee Brewers had a field day as they battered down St. Paul, 5 to 2, and 15 to 1.

Majors to Pick Commissioner

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Selection of a successor to Judge Kenesaw M. Landis as organized baseball's high commissioner remained today exclusively a big league responsibility.

* * *

Concluding a two-day meeting here yesterday with minor league executives, major league officials turned down a suggestion by President George Trautman of the American Association and Major Trammell Scott of the Southern Association that further commissioners be chosen by three votes, one each from the American, National and Minor leagues.

* * *

The major league representatives favored retention of present procedure giving one vote to each club of the American and National leagues.

SEMI-PRO DIAMOND TOURNAMENT OPENS

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)— Twenty sandlot baseball teams went into action today in a 10-game schedule opening the National Amateur Baseball Federation's championship tournament.

Headline attraction of the first round pitted the defending champion Acipcos of Birmingham, Ala., against the Memphis, Tenn., Hull-Dobbs entry. Only one team, the Greater Pittsburgh entry, was idle, having drawn a bye.

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service) — Joe McCarthy doesn't intend to bring up any players from the Yankees' farms for fall inspection, even though he could afford to let the kids kick away a few games now. . . . Joe says the Yanks have so many open dates he'll have a hard time giving the regulars enough exercise. . . . Fred Fitzsimmons is looking around Brooklyn for a good spot to open a bowling establishment. . . . Joe Louis didn't seem a bit worried about Lou Nova's "bullet punch" when they met to sign the contracts yesterday, but he had an eye on Lou's fancy necktie. . . . Joe reckons he can take care of the situation with his "same old punch."

Circuit Clout Climaxes 4-Run Rally In Sixth

Walt Missler Comes Home To Steal Defensive Show in Game

Krantz Old Dutch Beers of Toledo foamed up last night to score a surprising 4 to 3 victory over the famous Ethiopian Clowns of Miami, Fla., before a crowd of nearly 900 fans at the Fairground. It was only the fourth defeat this summer for the Clowns.

Truth to tell, the Clowns clowned too long as they tossed away several scoring chances in the early stanzas, but with Roosevelt Macon hurling no-hit, no-run, no-man-reach-first ball for five frames, the 1 to 0 lead the Clowns chalked up in the initial heat seemed safe enough.

* * *

Then the lightning struck in the form of an extra-base hit barrage. Centerfielder Held of Toledo led off with a towering double against the left field fence, and Rightfielder Kotowski scored him with the tying run on a double down the left field line.

* * *

Shortstop Pawlicki drove home the second run of the inning with a single and then big George Wendt, second baseman, rode the pellet out of the park with a drive over the left field wall just short of the scoreboard, to send two more runs across the platter.

The Clowns got busy then to mark up a run in each of the next two innings, but the big run they needed in the ninth they couldn't get.

The Toledo team, stopping off on their way to the national semi-pro tournament at Youngstown, used a pair of southpaws in order to save both for the tourney.

* * *

Letty Smith, removed for a pinch-hitter in the sixth, saw his teammates score their four runs just in time to give him credit for the victory, which Red Herrington saved for him by some neat clutch twirling in the remaining frames.

* * *

Walt Missler, who caught for the Mansfield Braves last year, was behind the plate for Toledo, and got a hand from the fans. He responded with the only real circus catch of the game, plowing far to his left through the heavy mud of the race track to pull down a foul ball in the seventh at a time when the Clowns were threatening to tie the score.

STOCKS EXHIBIT STABILITY AMID RECOVERY TREND

Many Leaders Improve During Quiet Opening; Commercial Failures Are Noted.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading stocks exhibited more stability in today's market and fractional recoveries ruled in early dealings.

Improved at a quiet opening were Douglas Aircraft, Loew's, Du Pont, Texas Corp., U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Western Union, Montgomery Ward, Pennsylvania and National Distillers.

Holders of metal shares noted estimates of the OPM that the available copper supply for September would be around 131,500 tons with demand of "A" priority rating placed at 140,000 tons. Civilian orders, it was added, would increase this deficit to perhaps 50,000 tons.

Market analysts studied the Dun and Bradstreet compilation which disclosed a contra-seasonal rise in commercial failures in August. For the month the total was put at 955 compared with 908 in July. Insolvencies, it was explained, usually reach a low for the year during August. Failures among smaller concerns increased while those of larger companies declined.

FDR TO RECEIVE TAX BILL SOON

Senate Passes Measure, 67-5, Levy Will Raise Three and Half Billions.

per cent, thus leaving it to the conference committee to finally agree upon an amount.

The senate rejected the house tax on soft drinks, made the jewelry tax a manufacturers' instead of a retailers' tax, added a 10 per cent tax on electric light bulbs and revised some other levies.

With passage of the tax bill, Sen. Barkley, Kentucky, Democratic leader, notified members that there will be no major business transacted in the next two weeks unless the tax conference report is ready for action.

Many senators predicted that congress will be called upon to enact a new tax bill either this year or early in 1942, as a result of expansion of the defense program.

REDS GAIN IN COUNTER DRIVE AGAINST NAZIS

Report Germans Leave Piles of Dead on Fields as They Retreat.

vain German assaults in the last month, was reported to have driven back the Germans and routed three divisions. Russian troops were said by the official news agency to have found "piles of unburied German dead" as they advanced through several villages. Peasants were quoted as saying that the Germans fell back hastily and without sufficient transport, being forced to use Russian horses.

LOWER DNIEPER—Red army units smashed their way back across the Dnieper river in the Ukraine, surprising German forces on the bank and forced them into "disorderly retreat," the Red Star reported. Odessa on the Black sea, encircled by Axis forces, still was holding out strongly and taking a heavy toll of enemy troops, dispatches said.

CENTRAL FRONT — Vigorous Russian counter-attacks, aided by intensified air operations, continued at unspecified points on the central sector, the Red Star said. The air force was credited with disputing enemy lines and concentrations and destroying gun positions, while one squadron was said to have destroyed 42 planes, 110 tanks, 600 motorcars and 3,000 troops.

Fighting on the Leningrad sector apparently continued intense. Red Star dispatches said the battles had not abated and that troops under Commander Vassily Bondarev in a three-day advance had driven the Germans from several villages, destroyed 42 tanks and gained a strong position defending the city.

The Russian air force was reported striking harder on all fronts.

The Germans had been brought in to bolster the Nazi land forces following a "severe defeat" by the Red army, according to war dispatches.

Guerrilla bands, including Cossack cavalry groups, were reported creating the utmost disorder behind the German lines. One group smashed two German defense lines and in a six-hour battle "decimated" the enemy 3rd battalion of the 430th infantry division in a Nazi-held village, the newspaper Pravda's correspondent said.

The correspondent said that peasant "traitors" who had aided the Germans by accepting village posts were handed over to the Cossacks for "deserved punishment" in the village square.

Germans Execute Three Hostages

VICHY—(U.P.)—A German firing squad executed three French hostages in Paris today in reprisal for the wounding of a German noncommissioned officer on a Paris street Wednesday.

A proclamation issued by the German military command in Paris read:

"On Aug. 22, following the assassination of a member of the German army, I warned that hostages would be shot if there were any new attacks. Despite the warning, a member of the German army again was attacked Sept. 3. An inquiry shows that the attacker could only have been a French Communist. In reprisal for the cowardly action, three French hostages were shot Sept. 6.

(Signed) "Schaumburg"

The three victims presumably were chosen from the thousands of Jews, suspected Communists, saboteurs and agitators arrested in recent weeks in the Paris area. The Germans had announced that prisoners would be shot in numbers corresponding to the gravity of crimes against the Germans.

British Say 2 More Axis Ships Sunk

LONDON—(INS)—Pressing their air and naval campaign to cut off Axis communications in the Mediterranean, the British today announced destruction of two more important Italian ships.

Submarines torpedoed and sank the Italian liner Esperia, an 11,398 ton passenger vessel used as a troop transport, and a craft of the capable Ramb class.

The new British campaign in the Mediteranean designed to cut off the flow of reinforcements and supplies to Africa, where a new "blow-up" is expected soon, yesterday accounted for five Italian ships sunk and two damaged. Among those sunk "almost certainly," was the 23,635-ton Italian liner Duilio. Damaged was an Italian 10,000-ton cruiser.

RITES PLANNED

Dunlap Funeral Services Set For Monday Morning.

SHELBY — Funeral rites for Eber Dunlap, 73, who died Friday morning at Memorial hospital here, will be held at 10 a. m. on Monday at the United Brethren church with Rev. J. C. Searle officiating. Burial will be made in Oakland cemetery.

Born near Shelby, Mr. Dunlap, retired as foreman at the Ohio Seamless Tube Co. here in 1918. He had worked for the company for about 20 years. A member of United Brethren church, Mr. Dunlap had lived west of Shelby for more than 20 years.

Survivors include his wife, Alura; two sons, Russell of Chicago, Ill.; and Sergius of Cardington, O.; one sister, Mrs. Eva Karr of Mansfield; and a grandson.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Inter-City Meeting—The annual inter-city meeting of Mansfield and Ashland Rotary clubs will be held at the Ashland Country club next Tuesday, with golf in the afternoon and a program following the 6:30 dinner.

Hermit Club Installation—New officers of the Hermit club will be installed by Past President Dr. Harry L. Knox Monday at 6:30 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. New officials are Elmer Eckert, president; Herbert Schettler, vice president; Harold Burns, secretary-treasurer; and J. J. Hayes and W. E. Renwick, directors.

Gets Relief Money — Richland county today received $2,889 in state beer, malt, wort, and admission taxes for August. The money will be distributed to the three county relief areas to pay current bills, Deputy County Auditor S. Beck, said.

To Attend Meeting—Adjt. and Mrs. Paul Hoffman and Lieut. E. D. Merrifield of the Salvation Army will attend a divisional meeting of Salvation Army officers in Cleveland Monday. The session will be marked with a farewell dinner for new cadets entering training.

Fine Egg Thief—Harrison M. Roll, 53, Lucas R. D. 1, was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in Richland county jail and a $100 fine today after pleading guilty to a petit larceny charge before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in Municipal court. Roll was arrested in connection with the theft of 11 dozen eggs from the poultry barn of Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm.

Peddlers Fined—Roy M. Daugherty and James Lane, both of Norwalk, were fined today in Municipal court after pleading guilty to peddling fruit and corn in the city without a license. Daugherty paid $10 and costs for failure to register with Police Chief Meade K. Bates and failure to have a peddling license. Lane was fined $5 and costs for failure to have a license and $25 for peddling with a license from another state. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch suspended $20 of Lane's fine.

There may be much activity or stirring about in connection with the latter, with writing, correspondence, or travel involved. Romance and adventure may loom ahead.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of change, surprise and pleasant adventure, in connection with business, professional, social and emotional life. Much activity and stirring about is foreseen.

* * *

For Monday, Sept. 8.

Monday's astrological forecast is a rather expansive and productive one with business, finance, social, and friendly interests all under promising vibrations. It is a time for forging ahead to desired goals, utilizing all practical social and professional avenues for gaining objectives. Yet there is need for some social or sentimental reservations.

Those whose birthday it is may find a year of advancement and opportunity under an expansive rulership affecting property, financial increase, business growth, as well as personal popularity and social prestige. But don't overdo.

IF TILLIE PROLONGS HER VACATION I'LL TAKE MINE AND KEEP HER AWAY FROM RICK TOBER—
AND IF SHE GOES BACK I'LL GO BACK AND KEEP HER AWAY FROM DICK TRAVIS
MAC, I KNEW DICK TRAVIS WOULDN'T TAKE YOUR PLACE AT THE SHOP SO I 'PHONED
IT'S BUBBLES' COUSIN DICK TRIGGS
GOSH! I MUST GO BACK - THAT SAP'LL MAKE A MESS OF THINGS
9-1
RUSS CRESTOVER
I MUST GO BACK— WITH DICK TRIGGS IN MY PLACE THE OFFICE WILL BE A MESS
LAND O' GOSHEN, MAC
YOU'RE RIGHT—IT'LL SPOIL YOUR VACATION. I'LL 'PHONE MR. SIMPKINS
SWELL, TILLIE
MR. SIMPKINS, THAT DICK TRIGGS CAN NEVER FILL MAC'S SHOES
YOU SAY IT'S ALL RIGHT, HIS BROTHER IS GOING TO HELP HIM
GOSH! HIS BROTHER IS EVEN DUMBER THAN HE IS 9-2
RUSS CRESTOVER
DICK TRIGGS CAN'T FILL MY SHOES SO THE BOSS HIRES HIS EVEN DUMBER BROTHER TO HELP HIM
I SHOULD GO BACK BUT THERE'S THIS RICK TOBER HERE
I'LL STAY AND I'LL KEEP TILLIE AWAY FROM RICK
MISS JONES, THIS IS MY BROTHER, MATT
GOSH! SO HE BRINGS IN A BROTHER EVEN HANDSOMER THAN HE IS 9-3
RUSS CRESTOVER
NOW LISTEN, YOU STAY AWAY FROM TILLIE
OH, NO?
I WILL NOT
OH NO!
TAKE THAT BOP
HEH! HEH! THE TWO BROTHERS ARE FIGHTING— I HOPE THEY KNOCK THE TAR OUT OF EACH OTHER MAC!
YOU WOULD — YOU'RE JUST STAYING UP HERE TO KEEP ME AWAY FROM RICK AND—I WON'T HAVE TO IF THEY CRIPPLE EACH OTHER
WE'VE COMPROMISED MATT IS TO BE WITH YOU AFTERNOONS AND I EVENINGS
RUSS CRESTOVER
THE NERVE OF THOSE TOBER BOYS, ONE BEING WITH TILLIE AFTERNOONS AND THE OTHER ONE EVENINGS
THERE GOES TILLIE— I'LL TELL HER SHE CAN AT LEAST BE WITH ME MORNINGS
WE'VE COMPROMISED AGAIN, TILLIE—
—WE'RE BOTH GOING TO BE WITH YOU MORNINGS
RUSS CRESTOVER
HERE COMES MAC — HE'S JUST STAYING UP HERE TO KEEP ME AWAY FROM RICK TOBER— I'LL SHOW HIM
POOR MAC
BAH! RICK'LL BE WITH TILLIE EVENINGS AND MATT AFTERNOONS AND BOTH OF THEM MORNINGS
9-6
LISTEN, TILLIE, YOU'RE NOT GOING TO SPEND THE WHOLE DAYS WITH THOSE TOBERS
NO, I'LL HAVE TO SPEND A LITTLE TIME WITH MUMSY

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

OH, HELLO, MARY— AIN'T IT A SWELL DAY? WANNA GUM-DROP?
O-O-O— I JUST LOVE GUM-DROPS
GIVE ME THAT GUM-DROP, MARY— YOU'RE A BAD LITTLE GIRL— I'VE TOLD YOU OVER AND OVER AGAIN NOT TO TAKE THINGS FROM STRANGERS!
HERE'S YOUR GUM-DROP AND I'LL BE OBLIGED TO YOU IF YOU'LL STOP COMING 'ROUND OFFERING MY INNOCENT LITTLE CHILD ANY OF YOUR CHARITY!!
DARRELL McCLURE
HONEST— I DIDN'T MEAN ANY HARM— I ONLY—
OH, I'VE HEARD ALL ABOUT YOU— AND I'LL THANK YOU NOT TO SPEAK TO MY CHILD AGAIN
MY GOODNESS GRACIOUS— THIS IS A LOVELY DRESS
IT SHOULD BE LOVELY— IT COST PLENTY—
MONEY FLOWS LIKE WATER WHEN MRS. ROBERT GIVES A BRIDGE PARTY
A BRIDGE PARTY? THAT SOUNDS SWELL— WHAT DO THE KIDS DO AT A BRIDGE PARTY??
MY STARS, MISS ANNIE— A BRIDGE PARTY ISN'T FOR CHILDREN— IT'S A PARTY WHERE GROWN-UPS PLAY CARDS FOR MONEY
YOU MEAN GAMBLING? G'WAN— YOU'RE JUST FOOLIN' ME
SURPRISE PARTIES AN' BIRTHDAY PARTIES ARE LOTSA FUN— BUT BRIDGE PARTIES AIN'T NO FUN AT ALL— EVERYBODY LOOKS LIKE THEY WAS MAD AT EACH OTHER— NOBODY LAFFS— THEY JUST LOOK LIKE THEY WAS DOIN' SOMETHIN' THEY DIDN'T LIKE TO DO!
DARRELL McCLURE
AFTER ALL, MOTHER— I HAVE OTHER THINGS TO DO, BESIDES SPENDING ALL MY LIFE AS NURSE-MAID—
BUT, GLORIA— I DON'T SEE WHY YOU DISLIKE ANNIE—
— YOU CAN HARDLY EXPECT A HOMELESS LITTLE ORPHAN TO HAVE ALL THE SOCIAL GRACES— BUT SHE SEEMS LIKE A KIND-HEARTED, HONEST LITTLE THING
BUT YOU KNOW WHEN YOUR FATHER BROUGHT HER HERE HE ORDERED US TO TREAT HER LIKE A MEMBER OF THE FAMILY—
I'M ALWAYS POLITE WHEN I SEE HER—
DAD HAS A HABIT OF DRAGGING HOME EVERY STRAY DOG OR CAT HE FINDS IN TROUBLE— BUT HE CAN HARDLY EXPECT ME TO SPEND MY WHOLE LIFE ACTING AS SHEPHERD TO HIS LOST LAMB!
DARRELL McCLURE
GEE, ZERO, I GOT THE WIM-WAMS SOMETHIN' AWFUL— I THOUGHT IT WOULD BE SWELL LIVING HERE IN CAPTAIN ROBERT'S GREAT, BIG HOUSE—
I GOT HEAPS AN' HEAPS OF LOVELY CLOTHES TO WEAR— LOTSA FINE SERVANTS TO WAIT ON ME AN' THE SWELLEST KINDA STUFF TO EAT—
I KNOW I OUGHTA BE HAPPY— BUT I AIN'T— I GUESS IT'S ALL MY FAULT, BUT I WISH I WAS LIVING WITH FOLKS THAT WAS POOR AN' HAPPY
DARRELL McCLURE
MRS. ROBERT AN' HER DAUGHTER, GLORIA, TREAT ME NICE EVERY TIME THEY SEE ME— BUT I KIN TELL THEY AIN'T VERY GLAD TO SEE ME— AN' NO MATTER WHAT I DO, I FEEL I DON'T BELONG HERE, THAT I'M ALWAYS IN THE WAY
GEE, ZERO— LOOK AT ALL THOSE LUCKY KIDS— EVEN IF THEY WEREN'T CARRYIN' SCHOOL-BOOKS, I COULD EASY TELL THEY WERE GOIN' TO SCHOOL—
'CAUSE THEY LOOK HAPPY AN' THEY'RE LAFFING AN' HOLLERIN' AT EACH OTHER— WHEN SCHOOL STARTS THEY'LL ALL STAND UP AN' SING A SWELL SONG—
THEN THEY'LL HAVE LESSONS AN' PRETTY SOON THE BELL WILL RING FOR RECESS TIME AN' ALL THE KIDS WILL RUSH OUT INTO THE SCHOOL-YARD—
DARRELL McCLURE
AN' START PLAYIN' GAMES AS FAST AS THEY KIN— SO THEY KIN FINISH THE GAME BEFORE THE BELL RINGS AGAIN— GEE, I WISH I COULD GO TO A SCHOOL LIKE THAT
MY GOODNESS GRACIOUS, MR BOB— WILL YOU LOOK AT THE SUN GOING DOWN ALREADY— THE AFTERNOON PASSED BY SO QUICK IT SEEMS LIKE ONLY A COUPLE OF MINUTES
THANKS FOR THE COMPLIMENT, ANNIE— TIME PASSES VERY FAST WHEN YOU ARE TOO BUSY AND HAPPY TO HAVE TIME TO WATCH TIME PASSING BY
I GUESS THAT WAS THE SWELLEST DOG AN' PONY CIRCUS IN THE WHOLE WORLD— AN' WAS THE LEMONADE AN' HOT BUTTERED POPCORN GRAND— I DON'T KNOW THE RIGHT WORDS TO THANK YOU—
DARRELL McCLURE
LET ME THANK YOU FOR THE HAPPIEST AFTERNOON I'VE SPENT THIS SUMMER— OF COURSE, IT COST ME PLENTY— I MUST HAVE SPENT AT LEAST A DOLLAR AND A QUARTER

IF IT HAPPENS LATE SATURDAY OR EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

It Will Be In The Sunday Edition of News-Journal

SECRET AGENT X-9

HOLD YOURSELVES IN READINESS! WHEN WE ENTER THE NEXT TUNNEL, WE SHALL OVERPOWER THE GUARDS AND UNCOUPLE THE CARS AT THIS POINT!
THEN, AS OUR HALF OF THE TRAIN HURTLES BACK DOWN THE GRADE, WE SHALL JUMP TO FREEDOM!
THE DEED MUST BE QUICKLY DONE! WE ARE BUT AN HOUR FROM THE CONCENTRATION CAMP!
BEHOLD! WE ARE APPROACHING THE TUNNEL OF WHICH YOU SPOKE! THE GRADE IS STEEP! NOW IS THE TIME!
GREAT GUNS! THOSE GUYS HAVE GONE WILD! THEY'RE TACKLING THE GUARDS — THEY'RE MAKING A BREAK FOR THEIR FREEDOM!
X-9! LOOK! WE'VE STARTED ROLLING BACK DOWNHILL!
WE'LL BE GOING LIKE A BLUE BLAZE WHEN WE HIT THE CURVE AT THE FOOT OF THIS GRADE!
MEL GRAFF
THE PRISONERS ARE JUMPING OFF, X-9!
RIFLE FIRE! THE GUARDS HAVE OPENED UP ON THEM FROM THE TWO END CARS!
HADN'T WE BETTER JUMP, TOO, X-9? WE'LL HIT THE CURVE AT THE FOOT OF THIS GRADE LIKE A COMET!
CAN'T DESERT THESE WOMEN, HILARY! GIVE ME A HAND WITH THIS BRAKE!
THE BRAKES SCREECH THE WHEELS SKID — BUT A FEW MOMENTS LATER..
MEL GRAFF
HILARY! YOU ALL RIGHT?
WH— WHERE.. ARE WE?
THE RUNAWAY CARS NOSE-DIVED OFF THE TRACK! THE REST OF THE TRAIN IS BACKING DOWN THE GRADE AFTER US! THIS IS OUR CHANCE TO MAKE A BREAK!
OH H! MY LEG!
THEY'LL BE BUSY FOR A WHILE, LOOKING THROUGH THE WRECKAGE!
WE'VE GOT A CHANCE OF ESCAPING THEIR NOTICE IN THIS WHEAT-FIELD! KEEP YOUR HEAD LOW!
MEL GRAFF
LOOKS LIKE THE GUARDS HAVE ROUNDED UP MOST OF THE PRISONERS. HOW'S THE BAD LEG, HILARY?
IT PAINS TERRIBLY, X-9!
CAN YOU BEAR UP? WE'VE GOT TO GET AWAY FROM HERE BEFORE THEY CHECK AND FIND YOU GONE!
ANYTHING IS BETTER THAN GOING TO A CONCENTRATION CAMP, X-9!
HEY! AN AIRFIELD! PLANES!
NOT A SOUL AROUND! THERE'S SOMETHING STRANGE HERE, HILARY!
MEL GRAFF
PLANES! CAN YOU FLY, X-9? MAYBE WE CAN ESCAPE FROM THIS ACCURSED LAND!
ALL THESE BOMBERS AND NO ONE AROUND! THERE'S A CATCH SOMEWHERE!
KEEP WATCH, HILARY... I'M GOING TO HAVE A CLOSER LOOK AT THOSE PLANES!
WOODEN PLANES! A DUMMY SET-UP TO DRAW BOMBS OF AN INVADING AIRFORCE. MUST BE SOME ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS AROUND TO COMPLETE THE TRAP!
HEY! HERE COMES A PLANE!
MEL GRAFF
LOOK, X-9 — ONE OF THEIR OWN PLANES JUST CAME IN!
IT'S A CINCH THEY WON'T PARK IT IN THAT LINE OF DUMMY SHIPS! HERE COMES THE GROUND CREW FROM BEHIND THOSE TREES!
MAKE HASTE! GET THIS OUT OF SIGHT!
THEY KEEP THE REAL PLANES UNDER THOSE TREES. LOOK AT THE ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNS CAMOUFLAGED UNDER SHEAVES OF WHEAT! THEY OPEN UP, WHILE ENEMY PLANES ARE BLASTING AT THE PHONY SHIPS IN OPEN VIEW!
DO YOU THINK WE CAN SEIZE THE SHIP THAT JUST CAME IN AND ESCAPE IN IT?
TWO MINDS WITH A SINGLE THOUGHT! WE'LL SNEAK UP A BIT CLOSER AND SEE HOW WELL-GUARDED IT IS!

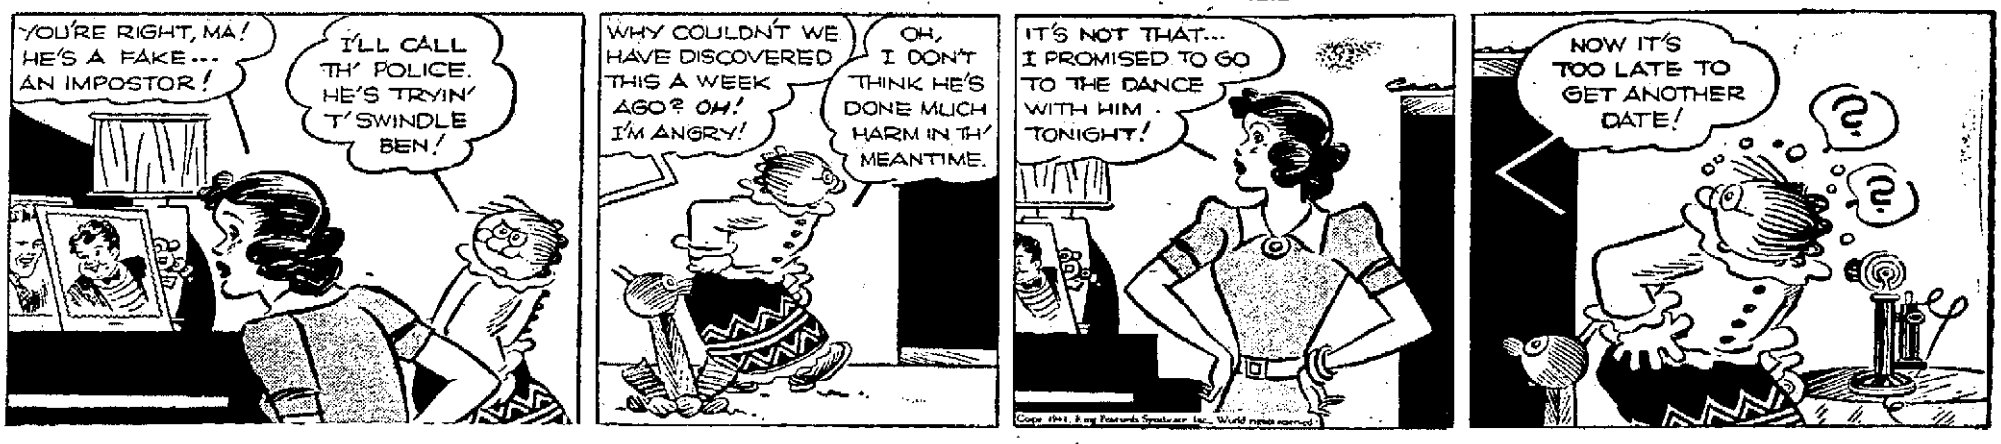
POLLY AND HER PALS



YOU'RE RIGHT, MA! HE'S A FAKE--- AN IMPOSTOR!
I'LL CALL TH' POLICE. HE'S TRYIN' T' SWINDLE BEN!
WHY COULDN'T WE HAVE DISCOVERED THIS A WEEK AGO? OH! I'M ANGRY!
OH, I DON'T THINK HE'S DONE MUCH HARM IN TH' MEANTIME.
IT'S NOT THAT... I PROMISED TO GO TO THE DANCE WITH HIM TONIGHT!
NOW IT'S TOO LATE TO GET ANOTHER DATE!
IT'S TOO LATE, MA. HERE COMES BEN TO TAKE ME TO THE MASQUERADE BALL.
THEN YOU'D BETTER GO OR HE'LL GET SUSPICIOUS. I'LL CALL TH' POLICE!
'LO, POLLY! HOW DO I LOOK AS A COP?
FINE, BEN!
I TRIED TO HIRE A CONVICT'S COSTUME. I'D PLANNED TO GO TO THE DANCE AS A PRISONER
--MEBBE IT'S TOO LATE T'GO AS A PRISONER--BUT NOT TOO LATE TO COME OUT AS ONE!
OH, WHY DON'T THE POLICE ARRIVE? THEY SHOULD HAVE BEEN HERE HOURS AGO?
BUT THERE'S A MAN IN THERE WHO'S PRETENDING TO BE BEN BARKER!
HUMPH! MY HUSBAND'S PRETENDING T'BE KING COLE-- NOW, UP WITH YER TICKETS!
WE DON'T NEED 'EM! WE'RE HERE AS OFFICERS O' TH' LAW--
IF YOU WERE HERE AS NAPOLEON... YOU'D STILL NEED A TICKET!
.. AND DON'T TRY ANY GATE-CRASHING..... OR I'LL CALL TH' POLICE!!

OH! I'M SO GLAD YOU ARRIVED. THE MAN WHO PRETENDS TO BE BEN IS DRESSED LIKE A POLICE-MAN.
HOW MANY OTHERS ARE DRESSED LIKE COPS?
JUST YOU AND THE OFFICER YOU CAME IN WITH --- AND THE IMPOSTOR. THREE ALTOGETHER!
GOOD.. I'LL GO FIND HIM!
9-4
O.K. WE'RE HERE!
NOW WHERE'S TH' IMPOSTOR YER MAW TOLD US ABOUT?
YOU SAY BEN IS FLYING UP FROM SOUTH AMERICA?
HE ARRIVES TOMORROW.
HE HAS YOU TO THANK FOR DISCOVERING HIS IMPOSTOR-- TOO BAD HE ESCAPED!
WILL BEN GET HIS INHERITANCE?
YES--- IF BEFORE NOON TOMORROW HE HAS A WIFE!
WONDERFUL! THEN ALL HIS TROUBLES WILL BE OVER
NOT OVER---- JUST STARTING!
9-5
YOU'RE SURE THAT'S BEN AT THE WINDOW, POLLY?
I'M POSITIVE. HE ISN'T VERY HANDSOME, IS HE?
NOW I KNOW I COULD NEVER MARRY HIM --- INHERITANCE OR NOT!
I DON'T THINK YOU'LL HAVE TO-- LOOK!

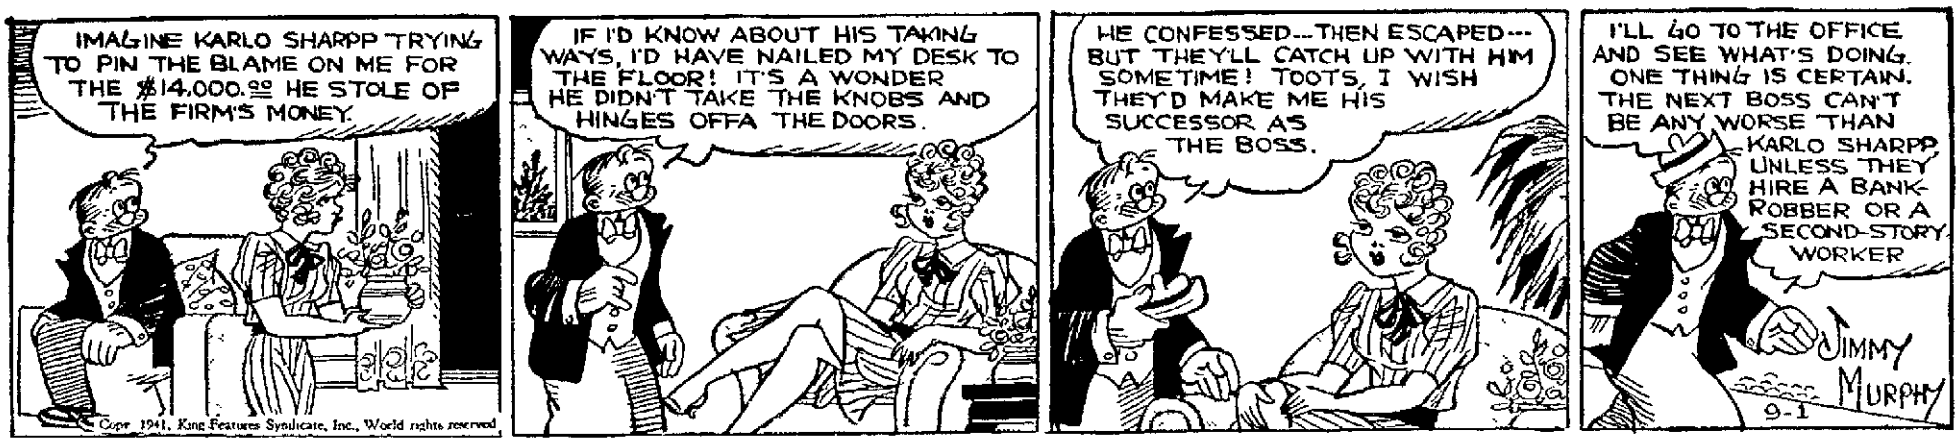
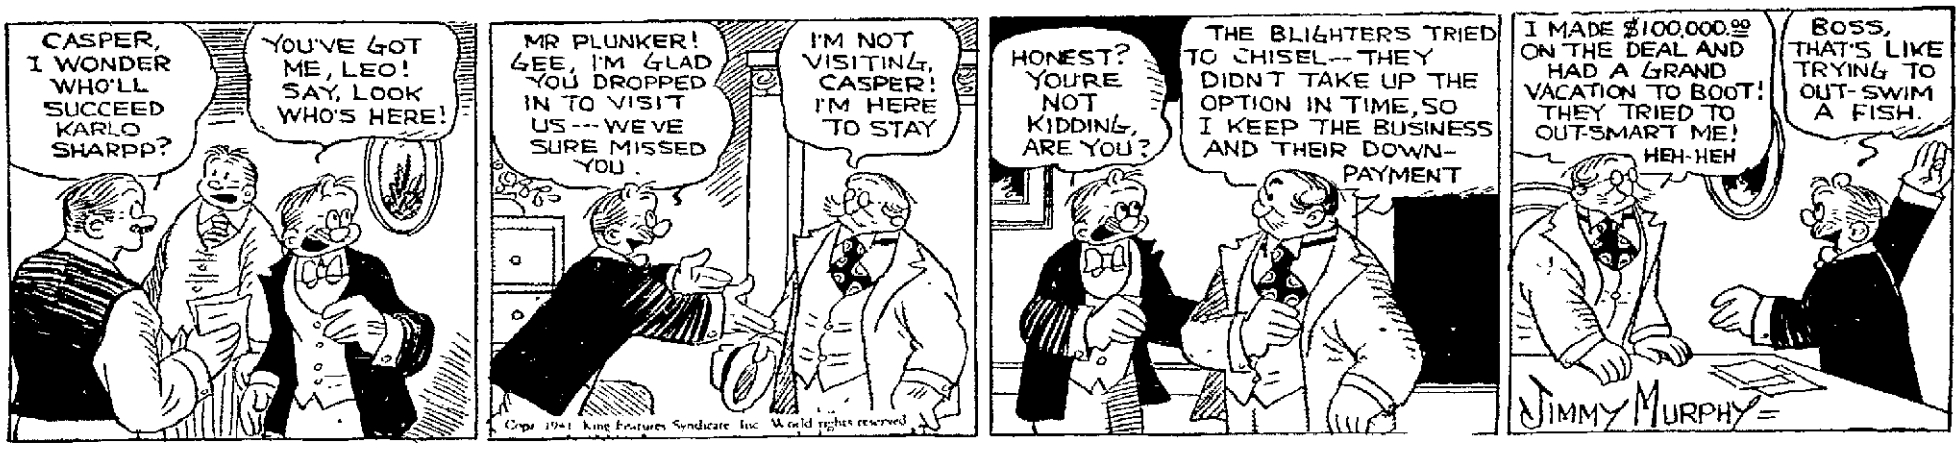
TOOTS AND CASPER



IMAGINE KARLO SHARPP TRYING TO PIN THE BLAME ON ME FOR THE $14,000.00 HE STOLE OF THE FIRM'S MONEY.
IF I'D KNOW ABOUT HIS TAKING WAYS, I'D HAVE NAILED MY DESK TO THE FLOOR! IT'S A WONDER HE DIDN'T TAKE THE KNOBS AND HINGES OFFA THE DOORS.
HE CONFESSED--THEN ESCAPED--- BUT THEY'LL CATCH UP WITH HIM SOMETIME! TOOTS, I WISH THEY'D MAKE ME HIS SUCCESSOR AS THE BOSS.
I'LL GO TO THE OFFICE AND SEE WHAT'S DOING. ONE THING IS CERTAIN. THE NEXT BOSS CAN'T BE ANY WORSE THAN KARLO SHARPP, UNLESS THEY HIRE A BANK-ROBBER OR A SECOND-STORY WORKER
JIMMY MURPHY
9-1
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.



CASPER, I WONDER WHO'LL SUCCEED KARLO SHARPP?
YOU'VE GOT ME, LEO! SAY, LOOK WHO'S HERE!
MR PLUNKER! GEE, I'M GLAD YOU DROPPED IN TO VISIT US--- WE'VE SURE MISSED YOU.
I'M NOT VISITING, CASPER! I'M HERE TO STAY
Copr. 1941 King Features Syndicate Inc. World rights reserved.
HONEST? YOU'RE NOT KIDDING, ARE YOU?
THE BLIGHTERS TRIED TO CHISEL--THEY DIDN'T TAKE UP THE OPTION IN TIME, SO I KEEP THE BUSINESS AND THEIR DOWN-PAYMENT
I MADE $100,000.00 ON THE DEAL AND HAD A GRAND VACATION TO BOOT! THEY TRIED TO OUT-SMART ME! HEH-HEH BOSS, THAT'S LIKE TRYING TO OUT-SWIM A FISH.
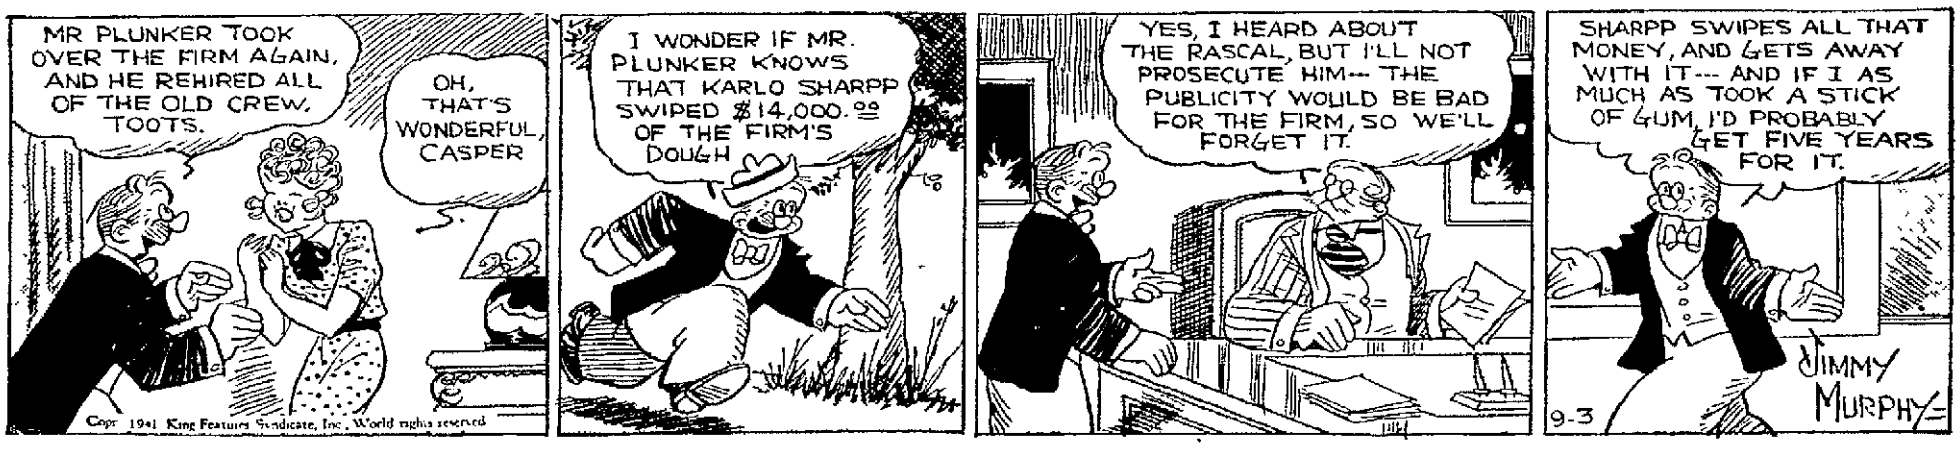
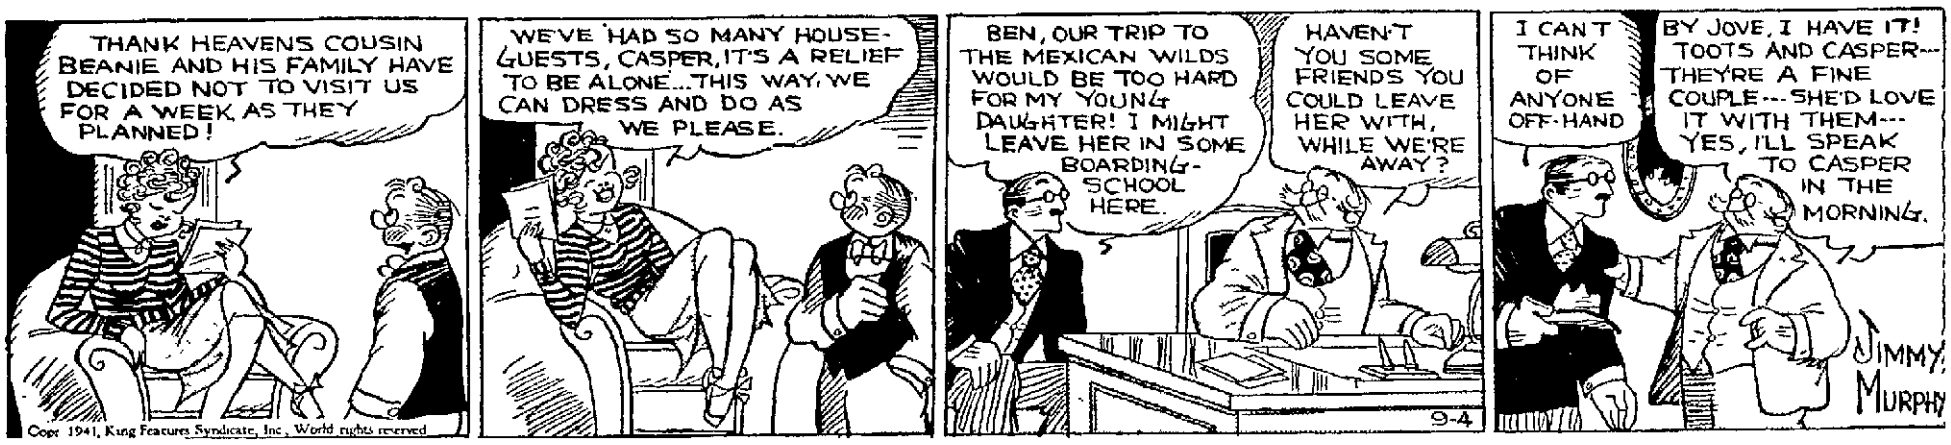
JIMMY MURPHY



MR PLUNKER TOOK OVER THE FIRM AGAIN, AND HE REHIRED ALL OF THE OLD CREW, TOOTS.
OH, THAT'S WONDERFUL, CASPER
Copr. 1941 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
I WONDER IF MR. PLUNKER KNOWS THAT KARLO SHARPP SWIPED $14,000.00 OF THE FIRM'S DOUGH
YES, I HEARD ABOUT THE RASCAL, BUT I'LL NOT PROSECUTE HIM--- THE PUBLICITY WOULD BE BAD FOR THE FIRM, SO WE'LL FORGET IT.
SHARPP SWIPES ALL THAT MONEY, AND GETS AWAY WITH IT--- AND IF I AS MUCH AS TOOK A STICK OF GUM, I'D PROBABLY GET FIVE YEARS FOR IT.
JIMMY MURPHY
9-3



THANK HEAVENS COUSIN BEANIE AND HIS FAMILY HAVE DECIDED NOT TO VISIT US FOR A WEEK, AS THEY PLANNED!
WE'VE HAD SO MANY HOUSE-GUESTS, CASPER, IT'S A RELIEF TO BE ALONE...THIS WAY, WE CAN DRESS AND DO AS WE PLEASE.
Copr. 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
BEN, OUR TRIP TO THE MEXICAN WILDS WOULD BE TOO HARD FOR MY YOUNG DAUGHTER! I MIGHT LEAVE HER IN SOME BOARDING-SCHOOL HERE.
HAVEN'T YOU SOME FRIENDS YOU COULD LEAVE HER WITH, WHILE WE'RE AWAY?
9-4
I CAN'T THINK OF ANYONE OFF-HAND
BY JOVE, I HAVE IT! TOOTS AND CASPER--- THEY'RE A FINE COUPLE--- SHE'D LOVE IT WITH THEM--- YES, I'LL SPEAK TO CASPER IN THE MORNING.
JIMMY MURPHY

HOUSE-GUESTS! FOOEY! YOU'VE GOTTA LOCK UP YOUR LETTERS AND BILLS, AND BE SO CAREFUL WHAT YOU WEAR AND SAY.
Copr. 1941 King Features Syndicate Inc., World rights reserved.
YES, I'M GLAD COUSIN BEANIE ISN'T COMING TO VISIT US! NOTHING LIKE BEING ALONE AND DOING AS YOU PLEASE---
CASPER, MR PLUNKER WANTS TO SEE YOU
CASPER, NEXT WEEK A FRIEND AND MYSELF, AND OUR WIVES, ARE GOING ON A TRIP TO THE MEXICAN WILDS---IT WILL BE TOO HARD A TRIP TO TAKE HIS YOUNG DAUGHTER ALONG--- 9-5
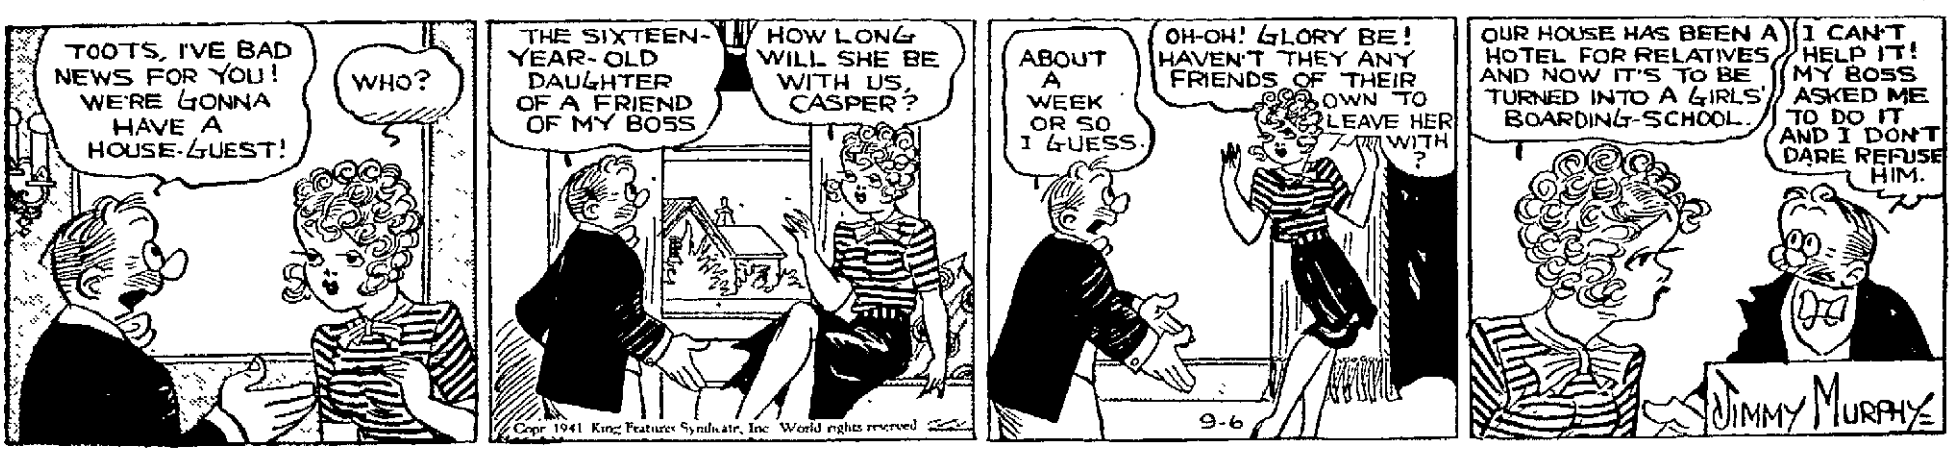
WE'VE BEEN WONDERING WHOM TO LEAVE HER WITH, AND I KNOW SHE'D BE IN FINE HANDS WITH YOU AND TOOTS--- HOW ABOUT IT?
ER-ER-SURE, BOSS--- SHE CAN LIVE WITH US--- (GULP)
JIMMY MURPHY



TOOTS, I'VE BAD NEWS FOR YOU! WE'RE GONNA HAVE A HOUSE-GUEST!
WHO?
THE SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER OF A FRIEND OF MY BOSS
HOW LONG WILL SHE BE WITH US, CASPER?
Copr. 1941 King Features Syndicate, Inc. World rights reserved.
ABOUT A WEEK OR SO I GUESS.
OH-OH! GLORY BE! HAVEN'T THEY ANY FRIENDS OF THEIR OWN TO LEAVE HER WITH?
9-6
OUR HOUSE HAS BEEN A HOTEL FOR RELATIVES AND NOW IT'S TO BE TURNED INTO A GIRLS' BOARDING-SCHOOL.
I CAN'T HELP IT! MY BOSS ASKED ME TO DO IT AND I DON'T DARE REFUSE HIM.

I KNEW YOU'D FINALLY SEE THE POINT'
HI, NEIGHBOR' I HEAR MY DAUGHTERS TAKING YOUR SON OUT."
YEAH" WHAT'S ALL THIS NEW FAD I HEAR ABOUT?
SOME KINDA GIRL-CHASES-BOY STUFF? ITS CONTRARY TO THE LAWS OF NATURE IT WONT LAST."
IT SURE TAKES A LOAD OFF MY POCKETBOOK." AFTER THE WAY YOUR DAUGHTER TOOK MY SON OVER THE HURDLES'
THAT'S ETTA HONKING "SHES PAYIN' THE FREIGHTS LONG, POP!"
HAVE YOURSELF A TIME, SON!"
THEY'LL GET TIRED OF IT-- ITS JUST A CHANGE."
NOT SMALL CHANGE!" DIG, NEIGHBOR" AND I DON'T MEAN IN TH' GARDEN!"
AM I ENJOYING THIS!
THANKS FOR THE SWELL EVENING HOW DO YOU LIKE THIS GIRL-DATES BOY IDEA?
ITS PURE SUGAR." IT'LL REVOLUTIONIZE LOVE"
LOOKS LIKE YOU'VE FREED THE SLAVES' A GIRL DOESN'T HAVE TO SIT AROUND WAITING FOR THE BOY FRIEND TO GIVE HER A BUZZ WHEN SHE SEES ONE SHE LIKES TAG HIM!
HOW ABOUT A DATE TOMORROW NIGHT?
SORRY!' MARYS TAKING ME TO A DANCE'
OH'
CUTS RED TAPE NO MORE OLD MAIDS'
SHE CALLED UP -- SAID SHES ALWAYS HAD A CRUSH ON ME IMAGINE." IF IT HADN'T BEEN FOR THIS IDEA OF YOURS, I'D NEVER KNOWN IT."
IT'S A DATE 'I'LL PICK YOU UP."
SOUNDS LIKE THIS GIRL DATES BOY STUFF IS COMING ALONG OKAY?
SWELL' COULD YOU LET ME HAVE A COUPLE DOLLARS? I'M TAKING BILL OUT TO DINNER'
HE INSISTED UPON PAYING - BUT I SIMPLY WOULDN'T HEAR OF IT."
THANKS' I BELIEVE IN A GIRL BEING INDEPENDENT'
THIS IDEA OF YOURS ABOUT THE GALS TOWN THE BOYS AROUND IS SWELL' SINCE YOU'RE PAYIN THE FREIGHT, I'LL TAKE A HOLLYWOOD SPECIAL WITH NUTS N HEAVY CREAM'
THAT'S EIGHTY CENTS CHUM'
PUT THE BITE ON THE GIRL FRIEND THE WOMAN PAYS AT LAST'
LISTEN VERA' HE HAS AN ACCOUNT HERE PARK IT ON HIS BILL'
RIGHT' WE GIRLS MUST STICK TOGETHER'
AFTER ALL THE TIMES YOU STUCK ME." SWEET REVENGE." AM I ENJOYING THIS"
YOU AND ME, BOTH'
OKAY IF THAT'S THE WAY YOU WANT IT."
I'LL PAY THE THE TRAFFIC' THAT'S THE WAY I WANT IT'
YOUR IDEA OF THE GIRLS DATING BOYS DOESN'T SEEM TO BE WORKING SO WELL?
NOT SO HOT" THEY DON'T LIKE THE IDEA OF US PAYING THEIR WAY."
BOYS HAVE PRIDE'
SILLY - IT WAS ALL IN FUN - BUT THEY TOOK IT SERIOUSLY."
I KNOW SOME OF THE BOYS CAN'T AFFORD HEAVY DATES -- BUT THEY LIKE TO PLAY SANTA CLAUS EVEN IF THEY DO GO FOR A SLEIGH RIDE'
OH WELL' IT WAS A GOOD IDEA WHILE IT LASTED'
